LEGISLATORS IN ROW WITH PRESIDENT!

COOLIDGE IN CLASH WITH CONGRESS

Executive and Legislative Forces Fail to Agree On Any Program

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The makeshifts of compromise legislation together with an inevitable battle between the executive and the legislative have forced to a climax the whole political situation.

President Coolidge's first experience with Congress has proved disastrous. He has failed to persuade the House and Senate in which the Republicans have a majority to enact a single one of his major proposals.

Final Struggle
Instead, he is engaged in an eleven hour struggle to prevent Congress from damaging the prestige of the United States abroad as well as its economic structure at home. The defeat of the president in the House on his suggestion that legislation excluding the Japanese be deferred until a treaty governing immigration from Japan could be negotiated means a veto of the immigration bill. A simple resolution extending the provisions of the present law for another year could be enacted until Congress reconvened next fall.

As if to add more confusion to an already complicated situation in Congress, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican leader, has gone against the avowed position of President Coolidge on the world court by proposing an alternative scheme.

Tried Out Before
Mr. Lodge's suggestions are not new. They were tried out before, but failed to win the approval of the smaller nations of the globe who insisted that they would not be discriminated against. Elihu Root proposed the present world court constitution as a means of overcoming that difficulty, and that's why Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hughes have declared the present

FRENCH PREMIER TO RESIGN POST
Poincare and Cabinet Suffer Crushing Defeat Over Policies in Ruhr

BULLETIN
PARIS, May 12.—Prediction was made today that Premier Poincare and his cabinet would resign within twenty-four hours as a result of the defeat of the bloc national parties in the French election.

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service.

PARIS, May 12.—Resignation of Premier Raymond Poincare and a complete revision of French policy regarding the Ruhr and reparations, is imminent today as a result of the sensational defeat of the bloc national in Sunday's general election.

Majority of Ninety
On the basis of figures given out by the foreign office this afternoon, the left bloc claimed a majority of ninety in the Chamber of Deputies. The official news agency, through which the government was making its announcements, admitted a majority. According to the foreign office there will be nineteen Conservatives, 118 Republicans and ninety left republicans, totaling 227 for the bloc national. It requires 293 for a majority in the chamber. It is understood there will be twenty-four Communists.

Members of the "left," the coalition parties opposing Premier Poincare, score a notable victory. The policies of this group were "peace, economy and international agreements."

UNDER INDICTMENT
WASHINGTON, May 12.—Colonel Thomas B. Fielder, counsel for Gaston B. Means, was indicted today by a federal grand jury for conspiracy to secure the dismissal of a criminal charge against Means.

Major Martin Is Ordered To Return To Washington

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Major Frederick L. Martin, leader of the army's round-the-world flight, who has been in a series of mishaps since the start of the epochal trip, was ordered back to Washington today, and the remainder of the flight will go on without him.

The orders were issued shortly after noon and dispatched to Major Martin at Port Moller, Alaska, where he arrived yesterday after being missing and supposedly lost since April 30, when his plane crashed into a mountain top and was completely wrecked. The following announcement was made by the war department:

"With the approval of the Secretary of War Weeks, the chief of the air service, General Mason M. Patrick, has sent the following telegram to Major Frederick L. Martin: We rejoice and thank God that you are both safe and well. Confidence in you unabated. You have proved yourself. Still want you to command flight. Cannot arrange for you to overtake others by going on west. You and Sergeant Harvey will report to me here without delay. Plan to send you east to rejoin flight at convenient point from which you can complete the journey with the rest of your command."

General Patrick received a radiogram from Martin this afternoon that the flight commander and his staff sergeant, Alva Harvey, are leaving Port Moller tomorrow aboard a Pacific American fishing boat for Bellingham, Wash.

The decision to order the flight commander back to the capital was reached after a conference between Secretary Weeks, General Patrick and some members of the general staff. It was reported that General Patrick wanted to rush a new plane to Major Martin, but that Secretary Weeks and the general staff was opposed to it. Officials declined to discuss this point.

It is an open secret in army and navy flying circles that there has been considerable criticism of Major Martin's conduct of the flight since it started.

POINTS OUT SELLING ERRORS
Expert Tells Merchants of Proper Methods to Use With Customers

"Things not to do in making a sale" formed the subject of an address delivered before the members of the Glendale Merchants' association today noon at the Egyptian Village by George Westles, sales efficiency expert. The speaker stressed the faults of many salespeople and gave examples of how sales should be made.

Among the items he listed as matters salespeople should not do were: Use of hackneyed expressions, impersonal attitude, negative expressions, mechanical actions and expressions, create skepticism, be passive in sales or in dealing with prospective customers; failure to watch after-sale, overlooking the time element, arraying merchandise inartistically, and failing to watch the modulation of the voice, either in direct contact or over the telephone.

Correct Methods
Following each example of how a sale should not be handled and the expressions salespeople should not use, Mr. Westles gave the correct method. He used several articles of merchandise in carrying his point. Charts showing the difference in sales among salespeople who used the correct methods and those who did not, were shown and explained by the speaker.

Mr. Westles has devoted over eleven years to the careful study of correct sales methods, and has lectured before many employees. Recently he returned from Washington, where he toured the state, speaking in large mercantile establishments.

COMMUNISTS DIE IN HALLE RIOTS
All Night Fight Sends Many Reds to Hospital With Serious Injuries

HALLE, Germany, May 12.—Fifteen German communists and two policemen were killed and more than 100 wounded in riots which broke out in connection with the unveiling of a statue of Field Marshal Von Moltke. The rioting raged all night.

Police finally restored order today after making forty-two arrests. Fifty-two communists are in hospitals in serious condition.

Seventy thousand monarchist supporters marched in review before General Ludendorff, Prince Oscar, nephew of the former kaiser, and other royalists at the Halle race track.

Tomorrow Is Straw Hat Day! It's Also the 13th

If an inhabitant of Mars could look down on this section of terra firma tomorrow morning, he would think the waving fields of golden straw had left their wonted anchorage and were hustling around the city streets—for Tuesday, May 13, heralds the advent of that absolute monarch, the Straw Hat.

Those who have always felt more or less superstitious about that numeral "13" will possibly find it less unlucky if they start off on the right foot by renouncing allegiance to Old Felt, 'tis said, for on and after tomorrow the straw cranium-shelter may be worn with impunity. It is the edict of Common Sense.

"Where are the straws of yesterday?" may no doubt be asked by some economical spirits, as they survey the brightly bleached 1924 models in the shop windows around the city, and they will rush to the drug stores for cleaner—only to find, when they have finished, that the sad object of their labors is of a style hopelessly passe.

"With brand new, shiny straw head-parasols so reasonable this year," says Common Sense, "it certainly pays to bed down old Henry with last year's model and step out tomorrow under the latest thing in sun-reflectors!"

Elsewhere in today's Glendale Evening News will be found the official announcements of local stores relative to the change in headgear. Read them—or take the consequences.

HORRORS OF WRECK ARE RELATED

Major Martin Tells Details Of Bitter Struggle to Reach Safety

PORT MOLLER, Alaska, May 12.—Baker from the jaws of death, Major Frederick L. Martin and Staff Sergeant Alva Harvey of the flagplane Seattle of the American round-the-world cruise, today awaited instructions from the air service at this tiny cannery port after a series of experiences that will go down in the history of air trail making as miraculous.

Missing since April 30 and given up for dead by hardened Alaskans when the most widespread search ever conducted on Alaskan soil failed to discover a trace of them, Major Martin and Sergeant Harvey walked in here yesterday and flashed the word to the world that they were alive and well.

The three remaining planes of the round-the-world flight are safely riding out some bad weather around Attu island and awaiting favorable conditions to take the next hop across the Bering sea. The following message was received this morning by the chief of air service from Lieutenant Lowell Smith, now commanding:

"Aboard C. G. cutter Haida, woolies and rough set prevented work on planes today. Extra anchors put and planes riding safely. Smith."

"Woolies" is air service slang for low hanging snow clouds.

Crash Into Hill
Major Martin and Sergeant Harvey left Chignik about 11 a. m. April 30, headed for Dutch Harbor, where they hoped to catch up

Rescue for Entombed Miners Is Imminent

GILMAN, Colo., May 12.—Rescue of five miners, entombed in the Black Iron mine of the Empire Zinc company since Saturday, was expected hourly today when workers reported they were within eighty feet of the imprisoned men, were talking with them and delivering food and water through a two-inch pipe. The men were caught when a cave-in occurred behind them late Saturday. Nearly forty rescuers, operating in shifts of ten men each, worked feverishly until 1:30 this morning, when they established communication with the imprisoned men.

Business Good
"Everywhere I went I found that business is keeping up steadily, with an immense volume of traffic on all of the eastern railway and steamship lines, with all of the hotels jammed to the roof with persons traveling from place to place, and the prices that are charged for everything are keeping up to a high level."

"Some few people, it is true, are talking as if there were some danger of a falling off in business, but I could not find any decrease in employment, and in New York I could not but be impressed with the building activity, centered mainly on business structures and apartment houses."

Great Influx
"Everywhere I went I found people talking about California and I personally met many who are planning to come here as soon as they can arrange to do so. The traffic to the coast is comparatively light, so far, but as soon as the lower rates go in—"

One Killed, Two Hurt In Crash With Train

RENO, Nev., May 12.—F. N. Anderson, stock salesman of Denver, was killed; Mrs. Margaret Rogers of this city was probably fatally injured, and Mrs. Frances Henniquin was bruised and lacerated when their touring car collided with Southern Pacific train No. 24 at Lawton's springs, near here. Physicians today despaired of Mrs. Rogers' life.

OPPOSITION WINS IN JAP ELECTION

Ministry May Retain Power In Spite of Enemies' Majority In Diet

TOKIO, May 12.—Reports from Saturday's election coming in slowly today gave the Kenseikai of opposition party a majority in the diet, but the margin was not believed sufficient to overthrow the present ministry.

Constitutionalists of Japan were jubilant today over the defeat of Nakahashi, government whip, at Osaka. He was a former minister of education and ranked among four candidates, despite large sums spent in his behalf.

Former Premier Takahashi defeated his adversary, Tago, in Marioka by a narrow margin. The district is that of former Premier Hara, who was slain. Rioting occurred when 300 adherents of Tago attacked Takashi followers, but police quelled the disturbance without bloodshed. Minor street fights occurred in Tokio and Osaka.

COURT'S DECISION STIRS OFFICIALS

May Pave Way for Suits for $70,000,000 Against U. S. Government

WASHINGTON, May 12.—A decision which may cost the federal government $70,000,000 in claims arising from the commandeering of ships during the war was handed down by the United States supreme court today.

The court reversed the decision of lower courts and sent back to the court of claims for settlement of the case of the Brooks-Scanlon corporation, which sued the government for damages and compensation for the commandeering of a contract for construction of the M. J. Scanlon and the ship itself, at the yards of the New York Shipbuilding corporation at Camden, N. J.

Counsel for the government, in arguing the case, said if the court decided the contract had a value it would open the door to $70,000,000 worth of similar suits.

SENATE AND HOUSE IN DRASTIC REVOLT

Plan to Pass Three Big Fiscal Measures Over President's Head

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, May 12.—The federal treasury faces a deficit of more than $470,000,000, should the new tax bill and various other money bills become law, President Coolidge and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon were told today at a White House conference by Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, chairman of the Senate finance committee.

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, May 12.—The House this afternoon rejected all Senate amendments to the tax reduction bill and submitted the measure to conference between representatives of the Senate finance and the House ways and means committees.

By ROLAND KREES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—At war with the White House over legislation affecting national finances, Congress drafted battle plans today for the enactment into law of its own fiscal policies despite administration opposition.

Three great fiscal measures—the Bursum pension bill, the world war bonus and new tax program—were en route to statute books in the face of White House disapproval, according to all indications.

Revolt Spreading
A revolt started by coalitions of Democrats and insurgent progressives, was reported spreading to administration ranks for the avowed purpose of overthrowing the financial policies laid down by the president.

The first test is due today or tomorrow in the Senate on a reconsideration of the Bursum bill. Its passage is predicted by the two-thirds majority required to override the president. Similar action by the House.

The new tax bill, into which the Senate wrote the Democratic rules, was to be taken into conference for adjustment of schedules.

PIMLICO, Md., May 12.—Nellie Morse won the rich Preakness stakes of a mile and an eighth this afternoon on a mud scoured track, heading a field of fifteen at the wire while 25,000 turf fans screamed their tribute. The winner took the lion's share of the $50,000 purse but much more in honor. The Preakness is second only to the Kentucky derby in point of tradition and importance.

Cooper of Crissy field, who arrived here last Saturday en route to Chignik, Alaska, to search for Major Frederick L. Martin and his mechanic, now reported safe at Port Moller.

Although his original orders call for him to report on the coast guard cutter Bear for Alaska, Lieutenant Tonkin has asked permission to return to California.

The De Havilland plane in which Lieutenant Tonkin and his mechanic flew here from Crissy field, will be used in the speed attempt to establish a new record.

Mrs. M. V. Conklin of 633 West
California avenue was the honoree last Friday at a Mothers' day party and luncheon given by her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Rathbun of a surprise to Mrs. Conklin. All the guests present were members of the Merry Dozen Five Hundred club of which Mrs. Conklin is the eldest member.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out in decorating the rooms for the occasion. Festoons of pink crepe paper and roses formed a shower above the luncheon table. Artistic arrangements of Cecil Brunner roses were used in profusion in the decorations and a low bowl of the same flowers formed the centerpiece for the luncheon table. Place cards, favors and other table appointments were carried out in the same tints.

After luncheon the afternoon was devoted to playing Five Hundred at which Mrs. C. R. Hull was awarded the prize for high score and Mrs. E. H. Milbrook won the second prize.

DISCUSS CAMPS FOR SUMMER AT BIG CONFERENCE

Glendale Pioneer Notchers Are Represented at Two-Days' Session

Leaders and key boys of the Glendale Pioneer Notchers had a forenoon of summer camping pleasures last Friday and Saturday, when they journeyed to the Pacific Palisades and were members of a great camp of 300 men and boys from various Southern California cities.

Rex C. Kelley, Glendale Y. M. C. A. executive, who headed the Glendale delegation, states that the great beach conference was on summer camps.

The two-day camp program began Friday night with a rousing campfire at which the different delegations entertained with stunts. Glendale's stunt was "A Week at San Quentin" and was applauded for its humor and entertainment features.

Hold Ceremonial
 A special place on the camp program was the "Rag Society," which is the camp honor society. Rag honors were given a large group in camp and at sunrise Saturday morning the society held its ceremonial, honoring those who were awarded rags on Friday night.

One address the men and boys particularly enjoyed was made by Left Cummins, president of the student body of the University of California at Los Angeles, who spoke on "What Camp Has Meant to Me."

Saturday morning was devoted to conferences and in the afternoon Glendale won the novelty track meet.

Talk On Vacation
 The final talk of the conference was given by Dr. James A. Francis of Los Angeles on "What Am I Going to Do with My Vacation?" Members of the Glendale delegation were Elwood Ingledue, Niel Sooy, H. C. Rettberg, J. W. Bierma, Floyd Mercer, F. D. Mat-tice, William Rich, Charles Rich, O. D. Hallam, Rex C. Kelley and the following boys: William Hallam, Vernon Foster, Wendell Sherman, John Garner, Walter Roberts, Harry Edwards, Jack Swearingen, David Winans, Arthur Brothen, Neil Weatherall, Lloyd Hageman, Armond Ober, Richard West and Bernard Sebastian.

HI-Y WILL HOLD 'MOTHERS' NIGHT'

Special Entertainment Is Planned for Entertainment At Church Tonight

There will be added recognition of Mothers' Day in Glendale tonight, when the Glendale Hi-Y boys will celebrate "Mothers' Night" at the First Methodist church.

The boys and their mothers are to meet at the church at 7:30 o'clock. Robert Hatch, president of the Hi-Y, will preside over an entertainment program.

Richard Bickelbach will entertain with some of his clever sketches and the orchestra will play. Later an informal social time will be enjoyed.

Youth Injured When Bicycle Strikes Bus

Walter Zool, 1506 Glendale avenue, was slightly injured last night in a collision with a Pacific Electric bus driven by R. R. Stubbs, 408 Arden avenue. According to the report filed at police headquarters, Stubbs claims to have parked his bus at the curb and Zool rode his bicycle into the bus from the rear. Zool was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital and later was able to go home.

Rear Window Forced But Nothing Is Taken

A. Gafford, 115 West Elk street, reported to the police last night that his home had been entered and thoroughly ransacked by burglars, but nothing had been taken, as far as he could ascertain. Entrance was gained by forcing a rear screen and window.

Many English children suffer from 'fog poisoning,'" he declared.

SHOPPERS CROWD STORE FOR SALE

Special Bargains Attracting Many Today to Pendroy's Department Store

When the Pendroy department store opened this morning for the second anniversary sale to continue to Saturday, May 24, crowds of shoppers thronged into the building from both the Brand boulevard and Harvard street entrances.

Every department in the store had many attractive sales offerings and record purchases were made from early morning on through the day.

The many rearrangements made in the store building in the last year afforded ample space for handling the sales stock and the store force was on hand to serve patrons happily and satisfactorily.

Each day during the sale there will be much of value to Glendale people and a record sales event is being anticipated by the store managers.

H. S. Webb's Men's Store Now Offers Complete Line of New Styles

In the hustle and bustle of preparations among Glendale men for their great fashion fete tomorrow, May 13, the time for "spring straws," the H. S. Webb's Men's store on South Brand boulevard at Broadway, announces a most tempting line.

Every size, shape and material in a spring hat can be found in the stock at the Webb store.

The always good, conservative straw sailor in natural straw color and in other colors, with a variety of bands, are offered. Then there are many desirable shapes in panamas.

No one need go "strawless" tomorrow for the Webb stock will satisfy any taste, and at a moderate price, too.

COLLEGE WOMEN ELECT MRS. PARR TO PRESIDENCY

Increase Entrance Fee and Yearly Dues at Annual Business Session

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
 Of The Evening News Staff.

Progressive steps in the development of the Glendale College Women's club were taken at the annual business meeting Saturday afternoon, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, where a regrettably small company of members participated in the annual election of officers; unanimously adopted an amendment to the bylaws raising the entrance fee to $5 and increasing the yearly dues to $2.50, thereby automatically adopting the budget of $429.50 as formulated for next year by Mrs. Frank Parr and her budget committee; and heard the announcement that the recent benefit affair had established a nucleus of over $150 for the scholarship fund.

An annual business meeting generally fails to draw a majority of the membership of any organization, but the college women attending Saturday's meeting found real interest in the features mentioned above.

Mrs. Frank Parr of 224 South Orange street, an alumna of the University of Illinois, who served so expertly as chairman of the budget committee, was elected to the presidency for the coming year. Other officers elected were Mrs. George U. Moyle, vice-president; Miss Jessie M. Hill, recording secretary; Mrs. W. E. Lusby, corresponding secretary; Miss Hazel White, treasurer.

Small Vote Cast
 Serving on the election board were Mrs. Charles Barker, chairman; Mrs. C. M. Calderwood, Mrs. Frank Balthis and Miss Clara M. Landers.

According to the report made by Mrs. Barker, after the election, there were forty-seven votes cast. Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, who has so loyally and successfully served the club as president ever since organization a year ago, presided over the business meeting.

The action taken on the proposed amendment to the bylaws, raising the dues to $2.50, aroused much discussion, some of the women standing for raising the annual dues to $5. However, the majority vote adopted the raise to $2.50, with initiation fee of $5.

Add to Fund
 During the business hour there was a detailed report of the recent benefit affair given by the club at the home of Mrs. E. P. Sutton. Katherine V. Sinks, chairman of scholarship, announced that the total receipts were $154.25; that total disbursements were $35.14; leaving a balance of $119.11, which, added to the $26.53 in the bank, and to the $4.36 received on Saturday amounts to $150. She took occasion to thank all club members and friends for supporting the affair so heartily.

Reports were also given by Mrs. Helen Moir, secretary; Mrs. Julian Hayward, treasurer, and Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, president.

Mrs. Ferguson gave a most comprehensive report of the activity for the year. In addition to mentioning the work of the various chairmen and the program of meetings, she stated that at the first meeting of the year there were eighty members in the club, and that now there are 118, representing sixty-one colleges and universities. Of these 118 women, ninety hold degrees.

Tells of Convention
 A special guest was Mrs. Henry Goodell, California president of the American Association of University Women, of which the Glendale College Women's club is a branch. In view of the fact that of the 118 club members, ninety are eligible for membership in the A. A. U. W., it was most fitting that Mrs. Goodell should speak Saturday to announce the state convention, May 30 and 31, in Los Angeles.

The Glendale club is desirous of having a large delegation at the

Seeking Relatives of Man Killed In Canyon

The local police were asked to assist in locating relatives of Frank R. Rodriguez, Mexican, who was killed in Santa Monica yesterday. The man worked for a construction company, and, without the foreman's permission, took a truck and ran off of a cliff. He was found dead in several feet of water on the Malibu ranch, in Lost Horse canyon. The Santa Monica police were unable to locate any friends or relatives of the dead man.

Charge Driver of Car Was Intoxicated, Held

L. M. Siberell, 224 Milford, and John Meyers were arrested yesterday afternoon by Officers Jones and Zimmerman, and are held at police headquarters. The former is charged with driving while intoxicated, and the latter with being drunk. They will be arraigned this afternoon.

Why I Am In Glendale

For several years we have had a great desire to come to California to make our home, so last Thanksgiving Day found us on the way to the land of our dreams, with Los Angeles or vicinity as our destination. Along the way we heard reports of Glendale, said to be the fastest growing town in America, and thinking if that was the case there would be a demand for carpenters and builders, kept Glendale in mind, visiting several cities and towns before coming here.

We came to Glendale and remained because of its activity in building and on account of its central location and close proximity to cities, ocean and mountains. Also for the lovely homes, schools and churches, for its wonderful scenic beauty, and because it is an ideal city in which to live. We love California and Glendale, and are glad we came.

DINOSAUR'S EGG

BOISE, Idaho, May 12.—A schoolboy playing in the sagebrush a few miles from Kuma the other day picked up what experts believe to be a petrified egg bearing all appearance of having been that of a dinosaur. It seems to be a close counterpart to similar discoveries made in the desert of Gobi, Mongolia, and is in a fine state of preservation. In size the Idaho specimen is four and thirteen-sixteenths inches long and three and nine-sixteenths inches in diameter.

BLAME ARC LIGHTS

EL PASO, Tex., May 12.—Declaring arc lights interfere with wireless messages, radio fans here have induced the city council to postpone calling for bids for lights for the new white way until tests can be made. J. T. Burke, president of the El Paso Radio Club, protested that "after an arc light has burned a short time, a chattering is produced which throws out a carrier wave. One lamp would interrupt radio communication within a radius of four or five blocks and 400 would affect the entire city."

FLAG PRESENTED TO GIRL SCOUTS

Official of Woman's Relief Corps Tells History Of 'Old Glory'

A feature of the highly entertaining program given by Troop 3 of Glendale Girl Scouts on Friday night was the presentation to the troop by Mrs. Lenora M. Skelton, patriotic instructor of the Women's Relief Corps, N. P. Banks Post and Corps, of a beautiful American flag, together with hearty congratulations from the N. P. Banks Post and Corps and a word of encouragement to Girl Scouts. Mrs. Skelton, in presenting the flag, gave a brief but touching history of the storms the dear flag has weathered, and urged the youthful patriots to cherish it above all things.

He is held awaiting action by Constable McCarthy.

WASTE IN ADVERTISING

No doubt there are statisticians who could tell us how much money is spent for advertising in the United States each year. But what no one knows is, what part of this sum is wasted. Advertising is imperative in these times. The problem of the business and professional man, the politician and statesman, the church, the government, the project of any kind, is not, "shall I advertise?" but "how shall I advertise?" It is not, "does advertising pay?" but "what kind of advertising pays best?"

The waste in advertising is absolutely appalling. Ask any Glendale housewife how much time she spends gathering up printed matter from her porch and lawn and mailbox and what she does with it. In a certain section of Los Angeles an organization is taking steps to see if there cannot be some relief from this nuisance. It is likely that conditions are no worse there than in Glendale and other places. One woman reported that she had kept all of this material for a week, and this is what she had in her collection on Saturday night:

- 3 Programs of theatres.
- 1 Circular advertising special attraction at theatre.
- 1 Card advertising special service at church.
- 1 Circular announcing opening of bakery.
- 2 Dodgers giving weekly specials at meat markets.
- 1 Large price list of weekly specials at grocery.
- 2 Booklets or almanacs advertising patent medicines.
- 1 Card advertising correspondence school.
- 1 Card of dentist.
- 1 Card soliciting classified advertising by Los Angeles daily.

- 1 Blotter from tailor shop.
- 1 Blotter from beauty shop.
- 1 Circular from auto repair shop.
- 3 Cards from dry cleaners.
- 4 Circulars from real estate subdividers.
- 1 Large double page bill advertising furniture sale.
- 1 Full page bill from small department store.
- 1 Dodger from neighborhood dry goods store.
- 1 Dodger from woman's specialty store.
- 1 Circular announcing opening of cafe.
- 1 Circular from hardware store.
- 1 Laundry card soliciting trade.
- 6 Circulars relating to propositions to be voted upon.
- 1 Copy of Los Angeles Shopping News.
- 1 Sample copy Los Angeles Evening daily.
- 2 Sample copies neighborhood weekly newspapers.
- 1 Copy of newspaper published by grocery firm.

This woman reported that it is her habit to go out two or three times a day, gather up this material and "chuck" it in the fireplace. Many others said they not only ignore advertising presented in this way, but they consider it a nuisance and would be prejudiced against it in advance if they did read it. Of course a woman may pick up a circular from her lawn, see that it is from Blank's store, destroy it, and at the same time she wants anything in his line. It is impossible to determine how much good this class of advertising does. It is certain that it is enormously wasteful.

The amount of advertising that comes through the mail is almost, if not equally, as great as that thrown on the lawns. Harper's Magazine in an editorial deprecates the immense use of the postoffice as a cheap means of advertising, and says the increasing burden that is being placed upon the postoffice department is due to this. Postmen are asking for more money, and they should have it. But to give them the $115,000,000 they want is to burden ourselves with taxes and encourage the mail-advertising habit. Harper's says, "Better put up the postal rates. Anyone whose time is worth anything would rather pay more for postage if the increased charge brought in promise of relief from the deluge of advertisements."

No advertising medium is wholly efficient, but the newspaper is the best agency for distributing advertising. The newspaper has value because it is paid for and it is not destroyed until every member of the family has had an opportunity to read it. Your advertising in the newspaper has the greatest chance of being read.

THE LESSONS OF POVERTY

Do you read biography? If you do, you are impressed with the fact that a great number of men and women who have amounted to something in the world have come from homes where luxuries were absent, in many cases from homes of genuine poverty. The necessity for economy is always distressing to parents, but it is in such a home atmosphere that children receive invaluable training. They learn that effort is necessary to get the things they want, they learn the satisfaction that comes from a task well done, they learn that life is endeavor.

Training children for usefulness in life, for participation in the really big tasks the world has waiting for men and women able to do them is better than giving them luxuries that enervate, that stifle aspiration and kill ambition.

The young person who feels he hasn't had a chance, that he has been handicapped by lack of means in the race of life, should read the lives of great men. "The Iron Puddler," an autobiography by James J. Davis, is one of the most interesting and inspiring books that was ever written. It contains a lesson for every American. Davis says, "My father taught me to expect no gift from life but that what I got I must win with my own hands." This poor Welsh lad who spent his boyhood in the mills as an iron puddler learned lessons from poverty, hunger, pain and humiliation that helped him to a position in the cabinet of the president of the United States.

WHAT WILL YOU DO?

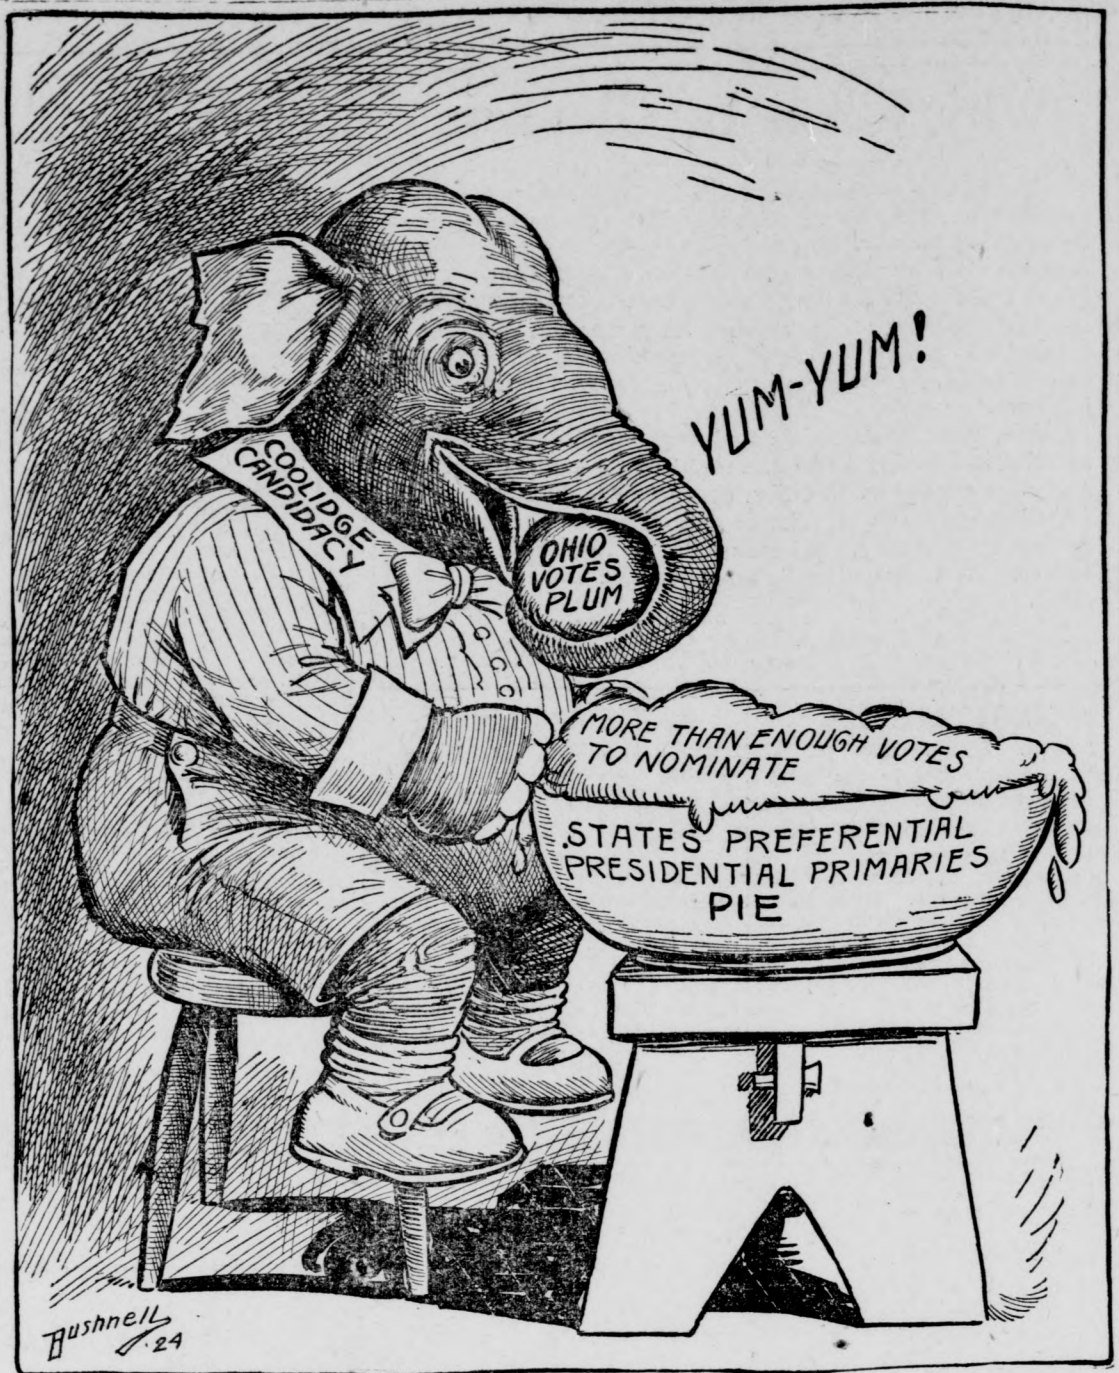

The decision of how best to observe Memorial day remains with the people, where in a commonwealth all decisions rest. Shall the day be given over to frivolity, sports and pastimes? Or shall it be observed in the way it was designed to be, as a day of thoughtful remembrance and material tribute to those who in the sublime sacrifices attendant upon the building and maintenance of this nation, gave their lives in the common weal?

The people are the law. Theirs is the choice whether in Glendale this year, as in a thousand other cities of our vast land, the day shall be spent in simple dignity, honoring those brave departed comrades, or in raucous, tawdry pursuits.

The people are the law—but there sits somewhere a high court of the heroic dead, to weigh and to judge what their sacrifice was worth.

The hand that used to rock the cradle now swings a golf club.

POLITICAL JACK HORNER

Politics and Business

By DR. FRANK CRANE

It seems to be a rather generally accepted bro-mide that politics has nothing to do with business. This is a mistake. Politics has everything to do with business. It is said they will not mix; but they do mix.

They might conceivably mix to our great advantage. As a matter of fact they mix now very much as septic sewage mixes with the drinking water.

All Europe is an example of what politics does to business. Hundreds and thousands of children are starving, nations are bankrupt and money is worthless over large areas, for no other reason than that politics has ruined business.

The War was nothing but politics reduced to its lowest and rottenest terms. Sooner or later business must arise and lay hold on politics or it will be ruined entirely by politics.

Business demands that the arteries of trade be unclogged. Politics is always clogging them. Business depends upon thrift; politics, by its income tax, penalizes thrift and encourages reckless expenditures.

Business asks for sound money; politics is forever devising some system to tinker with the currency.

Business is occupied with building things up; politics seems to be inspired with a desire to tear things down.

Business is based upon efficiency; politics upon popularity.

Business is anxious to know the law and to keep it; "Some six thousand lawmakers make some six thousand laws in the United States each year," says George W. Hinman, "and most of these laws are devised to put obstacles, one way or another, in the way of business."

Politics is organized to get men into office; business is organized to get things done, to give employment and to increase the capital and hence the well-being of the nation.

Instead of business keeping out of politics, it is high time that business girded up its loins and went into politics.

Mr. Hinman cites the incident of a special election for Congress in Los Angeles, in a district noteworthy for the intelligence of its people. The Congressman was elected by about one-ninth of the total registered voters.

This is a typical case. The constructive, hard working business men keep away from the polls and the result is that we get the kind of Congressmen that mutilated the Mellon Tax Plan in Congress, that vote bonuses, that tax capital wherever they see it and do their best to bring the United States down to the level of Russia.

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS

(From San Francisco Chronicle)

The ancient adage that "politics makes strange bedfellows" receives new illustration from Franklin D. Roosevelt becoming manager of Tammany's campaign in behalf of the presidential candidacy of the Democratic governor of New York. Mr. Roosevelt is the scholar in politics. Alfred E. Smith is Tammany's political child. Tammany stands for all politically, that is most opposed to the Rooseveltian ideals. Yet the idealist and the realist—the man whose political principles and methods are those of Woodrow Wilson and the organization whose political practice is entirely material—lock hands to forward the presidential fortunes of a fine fellow who is a member of Tammany, yet also about as good a governor as his state has ever been blessed with.

It is a singular union and forms one of the strangest developments that has ever arisen in our national politics. It may prove to have been an expert maneuver in conducting the campaign to win the presidential nomination for Governor Smith. It aims at relieving the Smith candidacy from the heavy handicap of being backed by Tammany, a spoils organization, and may succeed in providing such relief. It gives this candidacy the benefit of support by an anti-Tammany man who rose to prominence in Democratic politics as an opponent of the organization and has distinguished himself as an effective member of the national government and as a source of strength to tickets on which he has been a nominee. Mr. Roosevelt was an assistant secretary of the navy under President Wilson and the Democratic nominee for the vice presidency in 1920. He bears a great name worthily and has served his country well. His acceptance of the chairmanship of the New York Democrats who push the Smith candidacy will commend this to Democrats elsewhere who view Tammany with dislike and distrust.

The Smith candidacy gains ground at a rate that surprises even its sponsors. Six months back Candidate Smith was merely a favorite son. Now he is almost

INSANITY NOT TO VOTE

(From Lincoln, Neb., Journal)

In old Russia nobody had any votes, and oil grafts and all manner of grafts were the regular thing. They weren't even investigated. This has been a pretty regular thing in countries where popular votes have little to do with the run of affairs. The fuss we are making about Daugherty and Fall is a healthy sign.

We keep hearing from travelers about Nebraska that voters are cynical and disgusted over the revelations at Washington, and are talking of boycotting politics. Nothing more senseless and silly could be imagined. Let the people quit voting as best they can and the exposures will cease, no doubt. But the evils needing to be exposed will increase.

These throes of exposure are like the rash of certain diseases which indicate not only disease but the beneficent efforts of a physical organism to be rid of it. These efforts to be rid of the disease at Washington are a recognition in part of the coming vote-test throughout the country. Throw down the vote and we surrender our best weapon.

A certain amount of disgust at the inadequate results of our past political efforts we certainly are entitled to. But that disgust is for ourselves only. There is plenty of reason why we should use more sense in our voting. It is insanity not to vote at all.

Anytown

Character Sketches

Speaking of the old home town, Anytown, where we all grew up, reminds me of Emma James, the dressmaker. You remember her. She was an interesting character. Had she lived in a city she would have been "Madame James, Modiste, with an exclusive clientele." But in Anytown she was simply Emma James, the dressmaker who was patronized by the "best" people. And, indeed, if Emma James did your sewing it was mark of distinction. It set you apart as being of Anytown's aristocracy. If a girl announced that Mrs. James was to make her graduating dress she was the envy of the entire class, and no girl of any consequence could be married unless "things." Emma James was mighty independent too. You had to engage her services for weeks before you wanted your dress. You took your work in turn whether you were Mayor Caswell's wife or the humblest and meekest of her customers.

Emma James when she had time to go out, which was seldom, looked shabby and none too neat. She had no time to make clothes for herself. "You know the shoe-maker's children never have shoes," was her stock phrase whenever she thought it necessary to refer to her personal appearance. But no one in Anytown ever thought of criticizing Mrs. James for her shabbiness. We knew she was a good dressmaker and she was sacrificing her own appearance that we might be well-dressed.

Mrs. James' home was her workshop and it was never "tidied up" from one year's end to another. We men, on occasion, had to accompany our wives for fittings. The little dressmaker's activity in clearing a place for us to sit or stand resembled a small cyclone and we never envied Mr. James his home life. We often wondered how this little woman accomplished so much for she talked rapidly and incessantly, rarely stopping to take breath. Many a time my jaws have ached just from watching hers in action. But she moved and worked as fast as she talked, darting about like a little wren with her bright eyes snapping.

It was to be expected that a place like Mrs. James' should be headquarters for local gossip and Emma never failed us. Anytown's weekly paper couldn't begin to compete with Mrs. James as a purveyor of news.

Mrs. James' best customer was, as she said, "Mrs. Mayor Caswell." Mrs. Caswell had a black silk made every spring. Extravagant! The Caswells could afford it. Mrs. James was accustomed to show Mrs. Caswell's material to her other customers and in an awed and confidential undertone say, "Aint that a wonderful heavy piece of silk? I'm almost afraid to cut into it." But Emma James never spoiled a piece of goods for any one. After all, what counts for more than doing one's work well?

A Thought That Came Today

By HARVEY E. WESTGATE of Glendale

GIVING TIPS
Giving tips is bribery—absolutely wrong;
And yet—if she a waitress be
Who brings my pot of tea,
And smiles real sweet at me—
The chances are I'll help the graft along!

GIVING TIPS
Giving tips to barbers, though, is sure a crime;
And yet—if his old blade be keen
While I lay there serene,
And he dolls up my bean—
It's ten to one I'll slip that man a dime!

Bribing cops is worst of all—without a doubt;
And yet—if so it be that I
Step on the gas and fly—
And "five" will let me by—
Who knows but what—if tempted—I'd shell out!

The After House

THE STORY

Dr. Ralph Leslie, just graduated from medical college, and just over an attack of typhoid fever, ships on the yacht Elia as a sort of deck steward. He is penniless and thinks this will be a good opportunity to recuperate. Marshall Turner is the owner. His wife, her sister Elsa, a divorcee named Mrs. Johns, and a man named Vail are the passengers. Turner is dissipated and evidently jealous of his wife and Vail. There is a crew of fourteen, including the stewardess, a maid named Karen Hansen, the cook and Williams, the butler, Charlie Jones, a German sailor with a bent for religion, is friendly to Leslie. Captain Richardson and Turner have an argument over running the ship. Turner, drunk, appoints Singleton captain. Richardson knocks Singleton down and threatens to put Turner in irons if he interferes with the running of the boat. Mrs. Johns asks Leslie to sleep near the passengers' staterooms, in a pantry, as she is afraid of trouble. One night Schwartz, the second mate, disappears overboard, though nobody sees him jump. On the night of August 12 Leslie wakes in the pantry to find himself locked in. Vail, Captain Richardson and the maid, Karen, are murdered with an ax. The men put Leslie in charge, and they decide to head back to port. The ax is found where it was flung into the stewardess's berth. She says that Karen had been roused by a bell in the night, she thought Mrs. Turner's, but Mrs. Turner says she did not ring. Karen told the stewardess she thought Turner, who had annoyed her, was outside the door. She opened the door, screamed, and fell dead. Mrs. Sloane said she saw a figure in white in the door throw the ax toward her. The crew imprisons Singleton. Leslie and Burns share responsibility for keeping up discipline. They lock the ax in the captain's cabin and Leslie takes the key. The other key, the one to the pantry, has not been found. "Find that and you will find the man who locked you in," says Elsa. They put the bodies in a lifeboat. Leslie and Elsa find that the bell that called Karen registered Vail's room. Leslie sees Elsa pick up a key in Turner's room. Turner gets delirious and raves about Vail. Elsa tries to throw the key into the sea, but Leslie sees her and she gives it to him. At night Adams, in the crew's nest, says he has seen a white figure crawling along the deck. He hurled down a marlinespike, which disappears, but is found next day fastened over the side of the ship.

XIX—THE AXE IS GONE

I slept heavily, and at eight bells I rolled off my blanket and prepared to relieve Burns. I was stiff, weary, refreshed. The air was very still and we were hardly moving. I took a pail of water that stood near the rail, and, leaning far out, poured it over my head and shoulders. As a turned, dripping, Jones, relieved of the wheel, touched me on the arm.

"Go back to sleep, boy," he said kindly. "We need you, and we're going to need you more when we get ashore. You've been talking in your sleep till you plumb scared me."

But I was wide awake by this time, and he had had as little sleep as I had. I refused, and we went forward together. Jones to get coffee, which stood all night on the galley stove.

It was still dark. The dawn, even in the less than four weeks we had been out, came precipitously later. At the port forward corner of the after house, Jones stumbled over something, and gave a sharp exclamation. The next moment he was on his knees, lighting a match.

Burns lay there on his face, unconscious, and bleeding profusely from a cut on the back of his head—but not dead.

My first thought was of the after house. Jones, who had been fond of Burns was working over him, muttering to himself. I felt his heart, which was beating slowly but regularly, and, convinced that he was not dying, ran down into the after house. The cabin was empty: evidently the guard around the pearl-handled revolver had been given up on the false promise of peace. All the lights were going, however, and the heat was sufficing.

I ran to Miss Lee's door, and tried it. It was locked, but almost instantly she spoke for miniside:—"What is it?"

"Nothing much. Can you come out?"

She came a moment later, and I asked her to call into each cabin to see if everyone was safe. The result was reassuring—no one had been disturbed; and I was put to it to account to Miss Lee for my anxiety without telling her what had happened. I made some sort of excuse, which I have forgotten, except that she evidently did not believe it.

On deck, the men were gathered around Burns. There were ominous faces among them, and mutterings of hatred and revenge; for Burns had been popular—the best liked among them all. Jones, wrought to the highest pitch, had even shed a few shamed tears, and was obliterating the humiliating memory by an extra brusqueness of manner.

We carried the injured man aft, and with such implements as I had I cleaned and dressed the wound. It needed dressing, for the scum of blood that he had regained consciousness. Jones and Adams went below to the fore-castle, therefore, and brought up my amputating set, which contained, besides its knives, some curved needles and surgical silk, still in good condition.

I opened the case, and before the knives, the long surgeon's knives which I had in each cabin, the scalpel, the amputating set, fell back, muttering and amazed. I did not know that Elsa Lee also was watching until, having requested Jones who had been a victim of the needles, he verified of Burns' neck an abraded line two inches or so in length.

It was a strong cord—the kind a sailor pins his faith to, and uses indiscriminately to hold his trousers or his knife.

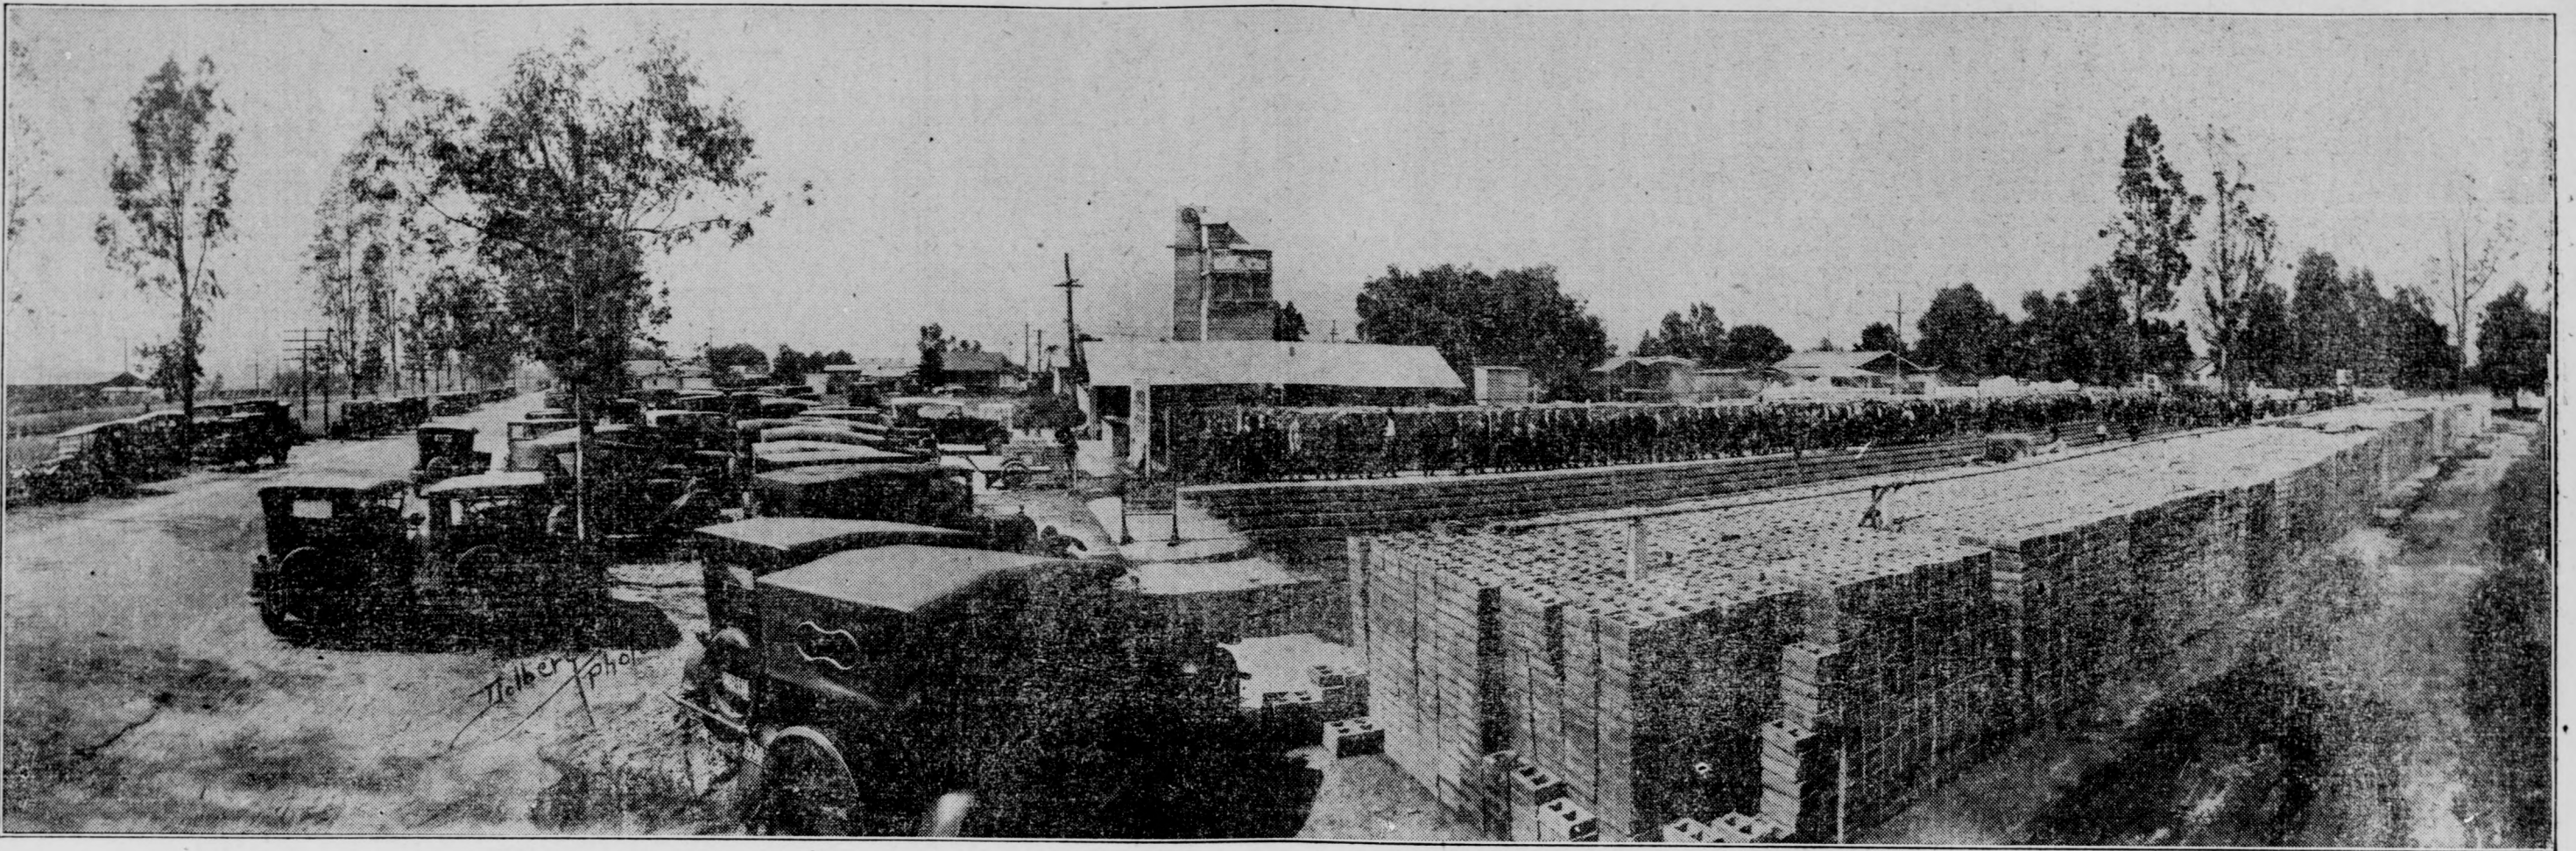

I ordered a rigid search of the deck, but the axe was gone. Nor was it ever found. It had taken its bloody story many fathoms deep into the old Atlantic, and hidden it, where many crimes have been hidden, in the ooze and slime of the sea-bottom.

What did Mrs. Johns ask Burns to do, and why heeding did it have on the cruise? Find out in tomorrow's installment.—A Bad Combination.

GERMANS HATE U. S.

BOSTON, Mass., May 12.—Italian hotels of the better class are full of wealthy, arrogant Germans, who show a marked dislike for Americans. This is the report brought to Boston by W. E. He said the French and Italians are very friendly toward America, but the Germans display intense hatred of things American.

R. E. Johnston, Head Of Stone-Tile Industry, Is Host

Some of the hundreds who Saturday afternoon gathered for the big barbecue and program which ushered in the new stone-tile plant of the Concrete Brick & Tile company at 440 South San Fernando road. The affair was held under the auspices of the industrial committee, Glendale Realty Board, in cooperation with President R. E. Johnston of the company.

Among the great throng may be identified Mayor Spencer Robinson, representatives of the City Council, Chamber of Commerce and practically every civic, fraternal, business and social body of the city. The affair was one of a series planned by the industrial committee to better acquaint the public with Glendale's fast-growing industrial section and the unique opportunities offered there.

MOTHERHOOD IS PASTOR'S THEME

Rev. Millikan Thrills His Audience With Address Sunday Morning

Appropriate to Mothers' day, "Our Noble Mothers" was the subject of the Sunday morning sermon by Rev. L. J. Millikan, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church. The audience, which was somewhat larger than usual, listened to a discourse seldom equaled in eloquence.

Selecting Psalm 113:9 and I Timothy 5:14 for his text, Rev. Millikan said in part:

"There are no honors so great as that the mothers of our nation do not deserve—is there a nobility that comes through a consecrated life made clean and pure by the blood of Jesus Christ and devotion to Almighty God. Motherhood is the most sacred privilege, obligation and responsibility God has placed upon woman. No scene can equal in beauty or sacredness that fond mother, as she caresses for the first time her blue-eyed babe as the little helpless darling snugly nestles in her arms.

"No painter's brush will ever produce such beauty, nor can any tongue be so eloquent or pen so gifted to describe it. Heaven itself bows in admiration on such a scene. That mother's aim, and her only aim, should be to glorify God. As that very moment her influence on her child's life begins, and it can never end, for it will live on throughout the cycles of eternity.

"All honor to our mothers! It was mother who brought us into the world; mother who taught us to smile; mother who led us as we took the first steps; mother who taught us to pray; mother who was ever ready to kiss away the hurts of our childhood; mother who guided us on step by step into the realities of life, and, if we will but let it, mother's influence will guide us safely to the portals of glory.

"All pity to that child who is bereft of its mother! Oh, young man, you should appreciate your mother while you have her with you. We should all be careful to live as to bring honor to her memory. Her influence is not limited to the cradle, but it lingers with us as we go down into old age. We hear the music of her voice in the tree-tops; in the church bells and in the solemn hours of the night."

The evening service was conducted by a delegation of workers from the Homer Toberman mission in Los Angeles. An interesting account of the work was given.

MOTHER LOVE IS RASMUS' SUBJECT

Mighty Influence and Love Foundation on Which Character Rises

"Memories of Mother" was the topic of an impressive sermon by Dr. H. I. Rasmus at the First Methodist church yesterday morning. The text was from 1st Samuel II:18-19: "But Samuel ministered before the Lord being a child girded with a linen ephod. Moreover, his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from year to year, when she came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice."

"This story of Samuel and his mother," said Dr. Rasmus, "is one of the most touching events of history, this record of a devoted mother and her remarkable son. Born into her in answer to prayer she named him Samuel, meaning 'heard of God,' and at an early age she took him up to the temple and presented him to the Lord as an offering. There he remained and ministered in the temple. There the Lord spoke to him and gave him a message for Israel. Samuel grew and the Lord was with him. He became the judge of a great race and down through thirty-five centuries has come the influence of this great man, Samuel, and his mother, Hannah.

"When we consider the high character of Hannah and his mother, no wonder that we celebrate this day all over the nation and a good part of the world. Next to the wonder working power of God is this mighty force of mother's influence and love that never leaves us as we go down the years. As we look back over a long period of time we realize that basking under her love and care we were living in the first paradise that God gave to men. There we ate the fruits of peacemanship, and there we felt protected and secure from all harm.

"The first blessed memory is the memory of mother and her Bible. Of books there are many, entertaining and helpful. But above all mother cherished her Bible. She read it and practiced its beautiful precepts, and out of its truths she built a super-structure that shall never fail. Her faith in its eternal truths she transmitted to the sons and daughters who followed after. The law by Moses, the discipline by Elijah, and love by Christ, have built sturdy characters, and are necessary at this time when there is rebellion against law and discipline.

Joy in Service

Memories of mother carry us back to her joyfulness in service. In her relation to childhood she did not suppress exuberance of spirit, but wisely directed it in proper channels. How long will these memories last? I cannot tell. I do not know. But of this I am sure: Not until the stars grow dim or the moon grows cold, to the utmost boundaries of earth and on to the end of old age, will memories of mother love and care go, weaving a garment that shall protect us, a spiritual protection.

"Her hope was boundless. No mountain so high, no sea so deep, no plain so wide, that mother's hope could not compass it; no night so dark that it cannot brighten. When Henry W. Grady, the great southern editor and statesman, grew weary in spirit, he rushed back to his old home and at his mother's knee got inspiration and renewed faith. The last words of the great leader, Henry Clay, were 'Mother! Mother! Mother!'

Guests at Barbecue Learn of Steady Growth of Concrete Brick and Tile Company's Business in Two Years Here

Entertainment honors Saturday afternoon at the opening of the Concrete Brick & Tile company's new stone-tile plant at 440 South San Fernando road, when hundreds of leading citizens gathered for a big barbecue luncheon and program, were tied in a triple deadlock between President Peter Hanson of the Glendale Realty board, Secretary Eugene F. Sanders of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and President R. E. "Slim" Johnston of the concrete works in person; with second award to K. M. Grier of the Blue Diamond Material company, whose Italian dialect stories made a big hit with the stag element.

The affair was held under auspices of the industrial committee, the local Realty board, who have planned a series of similar programs, according to J. M. Boland, chairman. Tracing the history of the Concrete Brick & Tile company from its inception in June, 1922, Mr. Boland showed how it had had the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce and the Realty board from the start, and had thrived from the day it opened its doors, slowly expanding until today the concern is one of which all Glendale is proud.

Present Notables

R. E. Johnston, who talked later, began his remarks by introducing some of the distinguished local people present, including Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman Sam Davis, S. S. Gilhuly and Asa Hall, Charles B. Guthrie and L. H. Wilson, who served on the industrial committee with Chairman J. M. Boland; Cameron D. Thom, who was Peter Hanson's predecessor as president of the Glendale Realty board; D. H. Smith, vice-president, and Eugene F. Sanders, secretary, of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and numerous other men and women prominent in the business and professional life of the city.

Messrs. Smith and Sanders both spoke for the Chamber of Commerce, assuring Mr. Johnston that their organization stood ready to serve him and his plant in any way within their power. "Human appetite at a free barbecue is greater even than love," declared Peter Hanson, in a comedy speech. "It is the greatest thing in the world!" He then unwound an uproarious yarn.

Johnston Is Pioneer

H. H. Filmore, Los Angeles stone, tile manufacturer, talked for the National Stone-Tile company, stressing the great strength and high absorption of this material. "Bob Johnston has pioneered the field," he said, "making it easier for the rest of us to come in and manufacture this durable product." He then referred the annual United States fire loss of $100,000,000, which he declared, could in the main be prevented by employing concrete instead of wood in construction.

The Portland Cement company was represented by J. Wadsworth, who paid a high tribute to the energy and ability displayed by R. E. Johnston in launching the Concrete Brick & Tile company and bringing it to the present high stage of productivity.

K. M. Grier, advertising manager of the Blue Diamond Material company, then stepped to the platform and doubled the men up with laughter over his peppy stories in Italian and other dialects. His baseball yarn was adjudged to rival Harry A. James' celebrated anecdote of the diamond.

Game Called Off

The ball game scheduled between the local Kiwanis and Exchange clubs for Saturday afternoon was postponed, owing to the inability of the former nine to mobilize their disabled cohorts in time, according to an announcement made by Mr. Johnston following the program.

Mr. Johnston personally thanked the industrial committee of the Glendale Realty board for their part in the program, and extended his thanks to the Chamber of Commerce, City Council and other bodies and individuals who comprised the hundreds of people present at this momentous affair.

OFFICIALS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Mrs. Chas. H. Toll Hostess To District Officers and Chairmen Saturday

Mrs. Charles H. Toll of 415 Kenneth road, president of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs, entertained as guests at her home on Saturday the officers and chairmen of the district.

There were all but four of the "official family" present and in addition to being the annual meeting of the board the day proved to be a delightful social gathering of co-workers.

Luncheon was served on a large table that entirely filled the space in the dining room. In the afternoon the business meeting was held downstairs in the billiard room. Reports given reviewed the year's work of all departments of the district organization, and of course outlined the success of the convention in Glendale.

Glendale club women will be interested in one appointment to the district board made Saturday. Mrs. Lyman Stookey, prominent club woman and past state regent of the California Daughters of the American Revolution, has accepted Mrs. Toll's invitation to serve during the coming year as chairman of American Citizenship.

Mrs. Stookey has many friends in Glendale, where she has been the guest of the General Richard Gridley chapter, D. A. R.

the board. "That's a good one. Now I'll tell you one."

Spivak expostulated and pleaded in vain. All he got was sympathetic shakes of the head, exclamations of "yes, yes, we understand," and confinement in a straight jacket.

It took the combined efforts of Spivak's newspaper confreres from managing editor down, a stack of affidavits, and a lot of argumentation to convince authorities that Spivak was not a dangerous maniac.

INSANITY EASY, HARD TO GET OUT

Des Moines Newspaperman Has Difficulty Proving All a Frame-Up

By J. W. MacDonald
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 12.—It's as easy as rolling off a log to get yourself adjudged insane—many followers of celebrated murder trials long have suspected. But once having proved yourself unbalanced, it's something else again to prove that you are sane. These facts have just been clearly demonstrated in Des Moines by John L. Spivak, newspaper man, with a penchant for "stunts."

Assigned to test out the theory that there is a lot of buncombe about insanity pleas in criminal trials, Spivak sallied forth from his newspaper office and got himself locked up as a dangerous "nut" in less than half an hour. All he had to do was talk grandiloquently about his "millions."

Spivak motored to police headquarters in a taxicab, and asked impressively to see the chief. Confronted by that official, he asked the loan of four armed guards to convey a large sum of money from a local bank to a New York train. That seemed reasonable enough, and the chief consented. But when the guards appeared and Spivak announced that their task was to convey "seven hundred and ninety-six million dollars," which he was taking to the metropolis as a down payment on the German reparations, he was rushed quickly into the hoosegaw.

Turnkey Is Shocked

There he stayed for three days, waiting a hearing before the state insanity board. He helped his case along in jail by bidding up to $3,000,000 for a cigarette, and promising his cell mate to kill him, but not to do it until it got nice and dark.

When he asked for a Bible, the turnkey shook his head and muttered nervously: "That guy is getting worse every minute."

By the time he got before the state insanity board he had become dishevelled and grimy. His announcement that he lived "permanently" home, but lived transiently in London, Paris, Vienna and Moscow, and that he had been straitjacketed, "while France weeps for reparations," was enough for the august insanity board.

Adjudged Insane

He was adjudged a hopeless lunatic and ordered committed to the state asylum at Clarinda.

"Really, I am not insane at all," Spivak then confided to the board. "I'm just a newspaperman, out on assignment to test the insanity laws."

"Ha, ha," said the chairman of

EXPRESS THANKS FOR ASSISTANCE IN MUSIC EVENT

Head of Hollywood Chorus Writes Appreciations to Local Singers

Heartily thanks to Glendale for her hearty participation in the big musical event Sunday, May 4, in the Hollywood Bowl, as the first event of National Music week, is expressed in the following letter from Mrs. J. J. Carter, president of the Hollywood Community chorus.

The letter, written to R. Ernest Tucker, reads:

"Again we of Hollywood are writing to express to you our joy at having you within our borders to sing together. I feel so happy over the very splendid coming together of all our widespread communities to 'sing together' that I am impelled to just write and personally thank you for your part in making the opening of Music Week in our Bowl the great success and pleasure it was.

"Your orchestra and your chorus were the 'hit of the day.' We were astonished at the perfection attained already by these groups, and I send them my very best wishes and sincere congratulations upon the impression they created upon everyone who heard them that day.

"Please let us plan to come together again, and many times, for just such an exchange of musical ideas. It is so splendid to meet as 'musical neighbors' and be assured that we of Hollywood are vastly proud of our lovely neighbor, Glendale."

What's Doing In Radioland

Gifted musicians will play tonight between 7 and 10 over the local radio broadcasting stations. Thomas Taylor Drill will present pupils over KFI, including Adah von Klein Smid, daughter of the president of the University of Southern California, who is a gifted soprano.

Sol Cohen, violinist, assisted by Melba French Barr, soloist, will entertain over KJH after the usual story hour at 7 in which E. M. Bonnel gives one of his Uncle Remus readings. Nothing of extraordinary interest is being broadcast today from San Francisco.

KFI (Earle C. Anthony, Inc.) 5:15 to 5:45 p. m.—The Examiner. Undersheriff Eugene Biscailuz, talk on how the public can help stamp out the foot and mouth disease.

George Harris, the Hillside Philosopher, "Art and Handicraft—the Natural and Formal." Eye Unsell, principal pictures scenario editor, talk on scenarios. 8 to 9 p. m.—The Evening Herald. Concert.

9 to 10 p. m.—The Examiner. Concert presented by Thomas Taylor Drill, well known musical director and teacher of the art of singing.

10 to 11 p. m.—Anthony. Max Fisher and his Cocoanut Grove orchestra.

Long Beach Business Man Killed In Crash

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—J. H. Meldrim, president of the City Transfer and Storage company of Long Beach, was killed at 2 p. m. today in an automobile crash.

His powerful car flew from the road on an S curve and turned over three times. Meldrim's body was rushed to the Wilmington hospital where life was found to be extinct, according to reports received at the sheriff's office.

TO LIMIT RADIO

NEW YORK, May 12.—Laws limiting the amount of radio energy which each receiver may draw from the ether soon may be necessary, Major E. H. Armstrong declared recently in an address to the Institute of Radio Engineers.

Decline in signal strength, often attributed to "fading" or unfavorable weather conditions, actually is due in most cases to absorption of transmitted energy by hundreds of sets tuned in on one broadcasting station, Major Armstrong said.

Washington, Idaho and Oregon produce about one-third of the available water power in this country.

Bob-Hair Beauty's Kiss Costs Kissers Watch and Wallet

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Here's something new in bob-hair bandits. Edmond Burke was walking down Indiana avenue. He met a pretty girl with fluffy, bobbed hair.

"Hello," said Edmond.

"Hello," said the girl.

"How about a kiss?" asked Edmond.

"Sure," said the girl.

She kissed him, and vanished in the dark night.

Edmond discovered that his watch and $190 in cash had vanished at the same time.

"But she was pretty," Edmond told the police.

COMMENT That's All

Poetry, Weather, Papers
Get Something For Nothing
Truthfulness And Honesty
Quit Magnifying Things

By Gil A. Cowan

This is a Monday in May. No sunrise. No surprise. Just a high fog, as they say.

It might behoove a poet to comment on the weather, but poetry never did go together with newspaper work—funny how rhyme comes with a jerk, every now and then.

Glendale has a poet, however, in Harvey E. Westgate, who is showing his "stuff" on the editorial page of The Glendale Evening News. He is paid to do so. So some of you other contributors, beware. If you inflict poetry upon us it may cost Harvey his job.

That's one policy of all publishers, reform or otherwise, to get everything they can free. We know, for we have done just so. Had a minister write up Sunday baseball games and religious editorials once upon a time. And he did the work cheerfully because he wanted to forget the smallness of mission congregations.

Yes, he wanted to reach out and talk to more people. For instance, this very evening some 30,000 people have the opportunity of reading this column. Let us pray they do not. It isn't worth the space in the paper. Sometimes it is. Today it isn't.

Confession being good for the soul, we shall now settle down and express a thought—just one, but having written it in advance of this we think it is a great big idea of which too little is said. Read it and weep, if you wish.

Southern California needs a renaissance of truthfulness and honesty. Most men of the street will not admit it, but this country is suffering more from braggadocio than the foot and mouth disease. In other words, its cities and its people have become too proud to work.

What needs to be done right now is to forget that each little community has its aims, or any big community has its aims, and all unite on a program for the benefit of the southland—as well as the state at large.

A little incident to show how we suffer from the braggart spirit:

Reports were spread about the destruction of the Fred Hartsook herd of cattle and it didn't take long for the authorities to learn from somebody's sister's second cousin who was told by a brother of his uncle's wife that a cross-eyed man told him that he heard an undertaker say the cattle were worth a million dollars.

Fact is, they were bought by the state before being killed, the indemnity being $125,000, in round figures. That was enough, but not so much.

So it is we want to quit magnifying things. Let us quit building the same hotels six times over. Let us do just one thing, stick with one story and win the confidence of the public that is still willing to listen.

SOX REMAIN IN TOP PLACE, WIN FROM TROLLEYS

Cruze, Pitching First Game For Locals, Fans Ten, Allows Five Hits

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff.
Carl Sawyer's White Sox came from behind yesterday in the eighth inning, and punching out three hits, scored two runs and won their eleventh consecutive victory in the semi-pro ranks, spanking the Pacific Electric 4 to 3 in one of the warmest tussles witnessed in these parts for some time. It was the fourth game in a row that the Sox have won in the eighth inning, after being led through the first seven stanzas.

Cecil Cruze, in his maiden appearance for the Sox, pitched an air-tight game. He allowed only five hits, did not walk a man and fanned ten athletes. That is a very fair afternoon's work. He struck out five of the first six men that faced him, making monkeys out of the trolley men with his fast-breaking curve.

The other hero, if there was one, was Hack Ennis, catcher, who rattled the boards in the right field fence in the eighth with a long triple that scored two mates ahead of him, winning the game.

Pitcher in Pinches
Al Jensen, hurling for Charley Hill's team, was found for twelve hits, and only his effectiveness in the pinches kept the score down as low as it was. The Sox hit in every inning except the seventh, and he pulled out of several bad holes.

Dorman was back in the Sox line-up, but only played five innings, as he is still weak from the small-pox. Shields, a new third-sacker, performed very creditably for Sawyer.

Cruze started out like a wild man, and went through the opposition so fast the Sawyer supporters called in the rest of the team. Not a man saw first until Shellenbach booted Evans' grounder in the third. Allee's single, followed by Bradley's double to right, scored the first run of the game for the P. E. crowd. It was Bradley's only hit of the game.

He closed his eyes and swung at the ball, hit it and ran. In his other three trips to the plate he pushed all the air out of the park trying to even foul the ball.

Sox Even Count
The Sox evened the count in their half on singles by Orsatt and Hirigoyen, an infield out by Ennis and a passed ball, when Orsatt scored. The visitors made another in the fifth on Farnett's single and Ratford's double.

The Sox evened it again in the sixth. Hirigoyen doubled to start the inning off, and Cruze sent him around with a long two-bagger to left field.

In the eighth Mr. Leonard, who guards third base for the P. E. crew, grabbed hold of the first ball Cruze pitched him, a straight fast one down the center, and sent it sailing over the fence, putting the visitors in the lead for the third time in the afternoon.

Historical Eighth
The last half of the eighth saw the ball game won and lost. Shellenbach started the inning with a single to left, after he worked Jensen for a three and two count.

Orsatt sacrificed, Jensen to Fitzgerald. Hirigoyen singled to right, a short hit, and Orsatt held third. Ennis at this time located the great open spaces in right field, and scored Orsatt and Hirigoyen. He was resting on third when the ball came back the infield. This unsteady Jensen and he walked Cruze.

Young hit to Jensen, who threw Ennis out at the plate. Jensen also threw Davis out, when he made a lucky stab of a red-hot liner.

Cruze had duck soup in the ninth, whiffing one and causing the other two to pop out.

Next Sunday the crack El Segundo, last year's California champions, will play here.

CASEY KEEP UP WINNING STREAK

Murphy's 'Knock Em Deads' Do Not Live Up to Name; Defeated 7 to 2

With both teams padded with American Legion players, who were having a day off in their own league, "Pickles" Heinz Gene Murphy's "Knock-Em-Deads" were beaten by the Glendale K. C.'s in the curtain raiser at San Fernando park yesterday, 7 to 2.

La Belle, pitching for the Caseys, hurled good ball and the Knock-Em-Deads, despite the heart rending exhortations of Pickles on the coaching line, could not connect when hits meant runs. The game was a good one until the seventh, when the Caseys, scored four runs on several hits, coupled with errors of omission and commission.

Cryan and Brandon were the hitting stars of the game.

GLENDALE TENNIS STARS DEFEATED

Laird and Maxwell Put Up Game Fight But Luck Against Them

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.

Of The Evening News Staff.

On the municipal tennis courts at Santa Monica Saturday, four Laird and Wayne Maxwell, first and second man, respectively, of the Glendale High school net team, went down in a memorable defeat at the hands of Alan Herrington and Dale Isenhardt, both of Hollywood High school.

In the first semi-final Isenhardt eliminated Maxwell, 6-1, 7-9, 8-6, while Herrington defeated Laird, 6-4, 6-4, in the other.

Maxwell's match with Isenhardt proved the most spectacular tilt of the tournament. The Hollywood High star started off like a whirlwind, snowing the local boy under, 6-1.

The second set started off the same way, with Isenhardt leading, 5-2, on his own serve. The plucky little Glendale net artist then began playing his opponent off of his feet.

Maxwell's marvelous array of drives, smashes and volleys had the Movie City star very worried and finally Maxwell ran out the set, 9-7.

After a short rest, owing to Isenhardt's just having played a match with Craig of Huntington Park, the players again took the court. This set found both players at the pinnacle of their form. Each player won his service up to 5-6, with Maxwell receiving. Here Maxwell had him point match four times, but twice Lady Luck favored the Hollywood player. The first time Maxwell drove one at Isenhardt's feet as he came in. Isenhardt barely got his racket on the ball, which hit the wood and fell just over the net on the right sideline. The time Isenhardt drove a hard one which hit the net tape and fell dead on Maxwell's side. The other two times terrific drives from the Hollywooder's racket passed Maxwell clean. The next two games were close, but Isenhardt took them both, winning the set and Match, 8-6.

In the other semi-final Laird was up against the fourth ranking junior player in the country when he met Herrington. Herrington got away with a lead of 5-2 over Laird, but Laird was able to pull himself up to 6-4, when Herrington, using quite an assortment of well-placed drives, finished the set, 6-4.

The last set was even until four-all, both players appearing quite evenly matched. Herrington broke Laird's serve for 5-4 and won his own after a hard fight, 6-4.

A good-sized gallery witnessed both matches. At the end of their matches both Laird and Maxwell were given a big hand by the crowd. In the finals Herrington won from Isenhardt after a tough fight, 6-4, 7-5.

COLINA TO MEET WELLS AT VERNON

Whittier Fighter Will Have Chance to Get Revenge Tomorrow Night

By Dick Dorgan

Bert Colima, pride of Whittier, gets a chance to redeem his reputation tomorrow night when he fights the main event at Doyle's Vernon arena with Bermondsey Billy Wells, who gave him a good boxing lesson in the same ring two weeks ago.

Bert claims that he has profited by the last set-to, and expects to follow different tactics tomorrow night. If Colima fails to make a good showing in this bout, his drawing ability in these parts will about be a thing of the past. Last time he was afraid of Wells' wallop. He says now that Wells cannot hit hard enough to hurt him and that he will wage right into him.

OAKLAND TAKES SERIES, DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER

Twombly Carried From Field With Serious Injuries; Ports Next Week

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Los Angeles and Oakland split the usual double-header at Washington park yesterday afternoon, the Oaks winning the first, 8 to 6, and the Angels nosing them out for the second, 12 to 11, in a free hitting, extra inning contest. Yesterday's victory gave the Oakland club the series, five to two.

Los Angeles lost the services of one of its best players in the morning game when Babe Twombly and Cedric Durst collided in center field while chasing a high fly, Twombly was carried from the field unconscious, and it is feared that he is suffering a fracture of the skull.

Oakland moves out of the city today but the Angels remain here to tackle the Portland club in a seven-game series. No game will be played tomorrow, as the Beavers will be forced to travel from the north and will not arrive in time. That game will be played next Monday instead.

Tigers 2-6, Seals 13-7

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The Seals wound up a very profitable week here yesterday by winning two games from the Vernon Tigers. In the morning they played Mr. Penner for a 13-0-2 win, and in the afternoon beat Harry Courtney, their old teammate, 7 to 6.

A record crowd of the local season jammed the park in the afternoon, and saw the Seals pound their former comrade all over the lot for the first four innings.

After that Courtney pitched good ball until the eighth, when Kimlick hit him. It was well for Death Valley Jim Scott that he had such a lead furnished him, as the Tigers, who were all the while being relieved by Geary in the fifth.

In the morning game Ken Penner was not as effective as he had been on previous starts, and the Seals made a merry-go-round out of the game. This double win puts the Seals four games ahead of the Tigers.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE TALCUM

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping away from his hollow stump bungalow, to go look for an adventure, he saw Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, running along in front of him.

"Mrs. Twistytail seems in a great hurry this morning," said the rabbit gentleman to himself. "Perhaps the cow lady did not leave her any milk for baby Squeakie Squealer, and she is going to the five and six cent store to try and get some."

Uncle Wiggily hopped along faster and soon caught up to Mrs. Twistytail.

"Where are you going in such a hurry this morning?" asked the rabbit gentleman of the lady pig. "Is there no milk for Squeakie Squealer?"

"Oh, yes, there is plenty of milk for Squeakie Squealer," grunted Mrs. Twistytail, "but no talcum powder."

"Talcum powder!" cried Uncle Wiggily in surprise, as he twinkled his pink nose. "You don't mean to tell me you feed Squeakie Squealer on talcum powder?"

"Of course I don't!" Mrs. Twistytail, "of course I don't! But last night the mosquitoes bit my little pig baby in many places. She is all covered with red spots and cries all the while. So I am hurrying to the drug store to get some soothing talcum powder."

"Let me get the talcum powder," begged Uncle Wiggily. "I should love to do that for you. Run back home, Mrs. Twistytail, and I'll hop to the store and get the talcum for Squeakie Squealer."

"Thank you," grunted the lady pig. "That will be a great help to me, for I can be cooking Mr. Twistytail's breakfast—and he is always so hungry in the morning."

So Squeakie Squealer's mother ran back to her pen house and Uncle Wiggily hopped on to the talcum powder store. And as the rabbit went along an ugly face thrust itself out of the bushes—then another ugly face.

"Did you hear that?" asked the Fox of the Bob Cat.

"Yes!" meowed the Bob Cat. "Uncle Wiggily is going for talcum powder and you and I will soon be going for his ears."

"What do you mean—going for his ears?" growled the Fox.

"Didn't he run away from us? How can we catch him?"

"Very easily," answered the Bob Cat. "Listen—we will play a trick on him. To come back from the talcum powder store, Uncle Wiggily will have to pass my den in the woods. Now just when he passes it you and I will be hidden there in the den. I will make a noise like a baby pig. Uncle Wiggily will think it is Squeakie Squealer crying from mosquito bites. He will hop in to see some talcum powder on her and then we will catch him."

"Ah, that's a good trick," growled the Fox. "Come on, let's do it."

So the two bad chaps hurried away to hide in the Bob Cat's cave, while Uncle Wiggily hurried to the drug store to get some talcum powder for the poor little mosquito-bitten pig girl.

"Here is your talcum powder," said the mouse gentleman who kept the drug store. And here is a bottle of stuff that Nurse Jane asked me to send her. Will you take it?"

"Of course I will—I'll take anything for Nurse Jane," said the bunny. "But what's in the bottle?" he asked.

"Strong stuff," answered the drug store mouse. "Very strong stuff—don't smell it whatever you do!"

"Oh, I suppose it's some sort of stuff to drive water bugs away," said the bunny. So putting the talcum powder in one pocket, and the bottle of strong stuff for Nurse Jane in another pocket, Uncle Wiggily hopped back along the path.

As he was passing the den of the Bob Cat—though not knowing what it was—Uncle Wiggily heard a sad, crying noise.

"Why, that sounds like Squeakie Squealer!" said the bunny. "She must be in that hole over there. I guess her mosquito bites itched her so she ran to meet me to have me put some talcum powder on them. All right, Squeakie, I'm coming!" called the rabbit, as he hopped toward the cave.

"Did you hear that? He's coming in!" whispered the Fox to the Bob Cat, who had been crying like a baby pig.

"Yes, and as soon as he gets inside we'll catch him!" whispered the Bob Cat.

Uncle Wiggily hopped into the cave, asking:

"Where are you Squeakie Squealer? Where are you? Here is the talcum powder for your bites."

And just then the rabbit gentleman saw the Fox and the Bob Cat.

"Oh, ho! this is a trick, is it?" cried the brave rabbit. "Well, I have here something good and strong for you!" With that he took out the bottle the drug store had given him for Nurse Jane, and threw it at the Fox and Bob Cat. The bottle struck them on their noses and broke. And, oh, such a strong smell as came out!

It was the strong smell of ammonia, and it knocked the Bob Cat down and it knocked the Fox down. But Uncle Wiggily ran out before the ammonia got up his nose and so he was not harmed.

On he ran with the talcum powder, and soon Squeakie's mosquito bites stopped itching. And, later, Uncle Wiggily got Nurse Jane another bottle of ammonia, which she wanted to wash the clothes with, not to drive away water bugs.

"It's a good thing I went after that talcum powder," said the rabbit, telling the story to his friend, Uncle Butter, and the old goat said it was.

She Speaks Right Up

MME. AMELITA GALLI-CURCI, shown below, has her own views on these pink teas and receptions held in her honor on her way westward, and when she makes them public, hearty cheers resound along the Rialto, for other artists feel the same way about it.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Musical artists here are considering a testimonial to Mme. Amelita Galli-Curci, because she has spoken what they have long wanted to say.

When an interview the renowned soprano gave in Wichita, Kan., trickled into Manhattan, there were cheers along the Rialto.

The madame was irritated by the parties and teas given in her honor in the many cities she visited on her western tour. "I'm always sore at myself after I attend them," she said, in the American language, "for they are all the bunk."

Neither was the madame pleased by the constant demands of voice teachers to hear their pupils. In the finish, added that a "hobo can read and should properly be called a migratory worker, whereas a bum is nothing but a 'moocher,' and a gay-at is a yegg."

According to faculty members of the "hobo college," Herbert Spencer's "First Principles" was the most popular work among the motley crowd of knowledge seekers. Jack London became the patron saint of the college this year, and Wells's history aroused much debate.

From Book Of Life

NO MAN IS BORN TOO SOON

Marcus Tullius Cicero (the greatest of Roman orators and the chief master of Latin prose style) has said, "I had rather be an old man a somewhat shorter time than an old man before his time."

Are men ever born before their time? John Burroughs thought not. He decided that no man is born too soon or too late.

In "The Last Harvest" Burroughs, the great American naturalist of our time (he died not long ago) says: "We often hear it said of a man that he was born too early, or too late, but is it ever true? If he is behind his times, would he not have been behind at whatever period he had been born? If he is ahead of his times, is not the same thing true?"

"In the vegetable world the early flowers and fruit blossoms are often cut off by the frost, but not so in the world of man. Babies are in order at any time. Is a poet, or a philosopher, ever born too late, or too early? If Emerson had been born a century earlier, his heterodoxy would have had to wait for a hearing at whatever period he was born. He said he was willing to wait for the growth of taste for himself, and it finally came. Emerson's first thin volume called 'Nature' did not see the first edition of five hundred copies in ten years, but would it have been different at any other time? A piece of true literature is not superseded."

"The fame of man may rise and fall, but it lasts. Was Watt too early with his steam engine, or Morse too early with his telegraph? Or Bell too early with his telephone? Or Edison with his phonograph or his incandescent light? Or the Wright Brothers with their flying-machine. Or Henry Ford with his DENVER, May 12.—Textbooks philosophy is a great help to the itinerant hobo, but the call of the jungle in the spring is more fascinating, so some seventy-five undergraduates of Denver's labor college are hitting the trail for the great open spaces.

The call of the open, increasing in volume with the warm spring sunshine, has reached its height and it has been luring the student body away from James Eads Howe's "hobo college" since the annual baccalaureate sermon was preached and Dean Bob Smith announced that the academic year had ended, more than two weeks ago.

The Denver "hobo college" was the first of a series of similar institutions established by Howe, "millionaire hobo," in several large cities.

The winter students of the local college have occupied comfortable lodgings, a room with a big, round stove, indulging in plenty of sleep and reading Schopenhauer, Karl Marx, Herbert Spencer, Jack London, Wells' "Outline of History" and other writings—and working at intervals to contribute pro rata to the Mulligan star and giant coffee pot.

A heated discussion of the definition of a hobo enlivened the last few days of the college year.

"Cities in the summer time are no place for a real hobo," declared Mike the Bounce, one of the students. "We like the jungle in the summer time. Let the bums and gay-cats have the cities. The bums ain't got no ambition, and the gay-cats is dangerous."

The Westward Kid, who had also pursued the scholastic course in the finish, added that a "hobo can read and should properly be called a migratory worker, whereas a bum is nothing but a 'moocher,' and a gay-at is a yegg."

According to faculty members of the "hobo college," Herbert Spencer's "First Principles" was the most popular work among the motley crowd of knowledge seekers. Jack London became the patron saint of the college this year, and Wells's history aroused much debate.

"We've been watching this controversy between the fundamentalists and modernists in the churches," declared one of the students, "but they don't take Spencer into account at all, or the 'Outline of History,' either, for that matter, although I'm one that don't hold altogether with the 'Outline,' believing as I do that the author is something of a nut. He says there ain't no difference between religion and science, that they just talk different languages about the same thing."

As the last of the students departed dragging deep breaths of Spring air into their lungs and swinging their shoulders jauntily, there was gay talk of the hop fields of Oregon and harvests in the Northwest, and then the return to Colorado in the Fall to resume their high-brow studies.

They planned to travel afoot, by boxcar, by chance pickups in tourist automobiles and on "blind baggages."

The short and ugly word featured a spirited argument recently between Governor William E. Sweet and Thomas Tynan, warden of the State Penitentiary at Canon City, during which the warden was accused of using the whipping post in its vicious form, and the Governor was declared to be a "liar and a four-flusher."

The open break between the official followed a breach of long standing, widened recently when a survey of Colorado penal institutions, including Warden Tynan's "gray house" at Canon City, was made.

In an interview at Greeley, Governor Sweet was quoted as saying that three prisoners at the State Penitentiary had been flogged. "The old whipping post, in its most vicious form, has been used in the past by Warden Tynan in the State Penitentiary," Governor Sweet declared.

The statements attributed to Governor Sweet regarding whipping post methods of punishment at the State Penitentiary are utterly false," Warden Tynan said, "and the Executive is entitled to a plain answer—Governor Sweet is a liar! He is a four-flusher!"

THE GATEWAY

Tom Mix in "North of Hudson Bay," a tale of the vast white wilderness that will prove particularly timely, in line with Major Martin's discovery, is now showing at the Gateway Theatre. Pronounced by critics as his best picture, it will certainly live up to the assertion.

Brimming with action, "North of Hudson Bay" unfolds a daring tale of love and adventure. It is one of those fast-moving dramas that tingle the blood and stir the wanderlust in everyone. "No resident of Glendale, in sunny Southern California, should fail to see this epic of the snowbound north," says Manager William A. Howe of the Glendale Theatre.

The comedy feature at the Glendale Theatre today is "Our Gang," 100 per cent grouchy-proof and guaranteed to produce giggles, chortles and gales of laughter.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

MILK—AGAIN!

How much milk are YOU taking a day? You know that milk is indispensable for steady growth and development in children, and that each child should have at least one and one-half pints a day, and in many cases, a quart a day. Do you know it has been proved that foods that are best for growth and development in the child are also the best foods for the maintenance of health in the adult? Therefore YOU, also, should be having milk in your diet.

Probably you can take a quart a day with benefit, but you should have at least a pint. If you are overweight, you can take the skim milk or buttermilk. That has half the caloric value. (Whole milk is 20 calories to the ounce, and skim milk or buttermilk is 10. If you take the whole milk when you are reducing, you can safely leave off your butter; but if you are taking skim or buttermilk, better have 10 calories of butter—one level tablespoonful or so—a day.) You need not take all of this milk in the form of drinks; you can take it in soups, sauces, custards, puddings, etc.

Where do we get this large idea that this minimum allowance of milk for the child and the adult is a necessary part of the diet? Well, we know that the longest-lived and most virile peoples in the world, the pastoral Arabs and other pastoral people of Europe and Asia, subsist largely on milk. (When Metchnikoff first called attention to this, he thought their longevity and virility were due to the lactate add bacteria in their soured milks. We know now that it was the milk itself and not its souring bacteria that was effective.)

And we know from the sum of observations in exact records in institutions for children, and adults, from nutrition classes, relief agencies, budgetary studies of families under nursing and dietitian care, taken together with the experiences of physicians and of medical services in hospitals, and so on. Everything spells MILK, in large letters for good nutrition. Now, there is a good reason for milk being such a valuable food. It is an almost perfectly balanced food. Its fat is one of the most valuable of fats; its carbohydrate (in the form of milk sugar) is one of the most valuable carbohydrates; and its protein (casein) is the most valuable protein, being a super-complete protein which contains all of the building elements necessary for the growth of the protein tissues in the body. Milk is the only food that provides sufficient lime for the development of the teeth and bones without including an over-supply of other food elements. If a child

Three Years Is Plenty

EUGENE V. BREWSTER, whose affections his wife, at the right, below, values at $200,000 and three views of CORLISS PALMER, whom Mrs. Brewster is suing for alienation of her husband's affections. The wife says three years' humiliation is enough.

By MARGERY PICKARD
Central Press Correspondent
NEW YORK, May 12.—Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned—

After three years of humiliations heaped upon her by the open love of her husband for another woman, Mrs. Eleanor V. Brewster is hitting back with all her might. She is pressing a suit for $200,000 for alienation of affections against Corliss Palmer. For four years Eugene V. Brewster, millionaire magazine publisher, has been endeavoring to induce his wife to divorce him so he could marry Miss Palmer.

The whole story of Brewster's romance is told by the papers filed in the suit by his wife. Mrs. Brewster says that she and Mr. Brewster were married in Stamford, Conn., on December 29, 1915, and that one child, Virgil, was born to them on February 29, 1920. This child now is in her custody.

They lived together happily, she adds, until December, 1920, "and I aided him materially in his enterprises, which have prospered so that he is now a man of great wealth."

"On or about October, 1920," continued the papers, "but at what precise date the plaintiff does not know, the defendant (Miss Palmer) conceived and at all times since has entertained a design of obtaining for herself from Eugene V. Brewster his financial support, affections and consort and of depriving plaintiff and said child of these benefits."

Called "Empty-Headed" Mrs. Brewster further charges that her husband established Miss Palmer in his home in Morristown, N. J., and maintained her there in great luxury. The young woman has received large sums of money and has lived there with her husband as his mistress, she adds.

In an affidavit accompanying the papers, William Wilten says that he and his wife were hired as housekeepers of the Brewster home at Roslyn, L. I., on September 23, 1920. Everything went peacefully, he says, until Miss Palmer's arrival. With regard to the girl, the affidavit has this to say:

"She is attractive, no doubt, but very uneducated and ill-mannered, and, as Mr. Brewster once declared, 'an empty head.'"

Mrs. Brewster also sets forth in her complaint that Miss Palmer at various times paraded before the public the fact that she was the affianced wife of Eugene V. Brewster, and lived with him as such in violation of the marital relations of Brewster and his wife, thereby scandalizing the plaintiff and bringing the name which she and her son bear into unpleasant and injurious notoriety.

$18,000 Yearly Alimony Separation proceedings instituted in 1921 by Mrs. Brewster, who is the publisher's second wife, revealed for the first time that he was in the throes of a romance. These proceedings were settled out of court, Mrs. Brewster's attorneys declaring that the terms were favorable to their client. Later it developed that Mrs. Brewster had been awarded $18,000 yearly alimony.

In January of this year Brewster admitted his purchase of the Dudley Oleoit place in Morristown, N. J., for Miss Palmer, where the young motion picture actress and her mother took up their abode. But in March, after the publicity waxed too pointed, it was announced that Miss Palmer gave up the residence and went to a city 1000 miles away to engage in business. Friends of Mr. Brewster were said to have admitted privately at the time that the young lady did not leave the city.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

It is the small trouble that wrecks the hair. Baldness may begin as dandruff, falling hair as split ends, severe alopecia as a slight dryness. Never neglect even the tiniest scalp trouble; it may seem foolish to worry over it, but it may lead to complete wreck of a beautiful head of hair if you don't.

If you have dandruff, treat it at once. There are all sorts of ways that you can manage yourself easily, including a new way which a certain well known scalp specialist has been trying successfully. This is to pinch the scalp over with the fingers, good firm pinches, using either the first fingers or the thumbs and all the fingers bunched together, whichever you find easiest.

The most effective day is to have someone else do the pinching, but if you rest your elbows on a table with your head in your hands, you can manage it yourself without any fatigue. It's more strenuous and more stimulating than rubbing.

Treat the scalp with oil, too. Oil and antiseptics will cure almost any case of dandruff. Thick black oil known as crude oil will do; olive oil is also excellent. An eight-ounce bottle of olive oil, to which a few drops of any good antiseptic or germicide have been added, will make an emulsion that will do wonders for a dandruff scalp. The amount of the antiseptic depends upon the strength; tell your druggist what you want and he will suggest what to use. I use half a teaspoonful of a thick creosote preparation which comes in little bottles for general surgical and antiseptic purposes. I must be vague about these directions; however, there are so many antiseptics on the market that my best advice is, ask your druggist.

Berney G.—You will gain in weight if you take cod liver oil, and then change to olive oil after the weather gets warmer. It is unfortunate that you object to milk and cream, as these would help you very much. When treating the scalp with crude oil for dandruff, have the oil hot; use only enough to cover the tips of the fingers and massage it into scalp without smearing the hair.

Clip off split ends with it. A lather made from any mild soap and hot water will remove all trace of this oil the next day. You probably used too much oil, and did not do enough shampooing to remove it from the hair. Several lathers would be best if you do not know how to massage so only the scalp is receiving the oil.

I. E.—With dark eyes, hair, and skin, your colors will be all those of autumn foliage.

Tomorrow—Answers to Inquiries

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

ACCESSORIES MATCH

PARIS, May 12.—The smart woman has decided to have her accessories match so far as possible. Today her fan matches her little evening wrist bag, so often in both color and materials and her shoes match her fan. All these are often in a color sharply contrasting with that of the gown.

Fillet of Cod: For the sake of my bride readers, I will begin this recipe by explaining that a fillet is a piece of fish, large or small, which is freed from skin and bones. Cod, haddock and white fish are all easily and frequently boned in this way before cooking. The most satisfactory way to fry fillets is in deep fat.

Rub each fillet with flour, dip in slightly-beaten egg diluted with one-fourth cup of cold water to each egg, and roll in fine, dry bread crumbs. Pace in a frying basket and lower into deep fat which is hot enough to brown a small cube of bread in a minute and a half. Serve the cooked fish with the following:

Hollandaise Sauce: Cream one-fourth cup of butter and add to it the beaten yolk of one egg, a pinch of salt, a dash of pepper and one-fourth cup of boiling water. Put this mixture in the top of a double boiler and cook, stirring constantly, till it thickens, then remove from fire, add one tablespoonful of lemon juice, cool, and serve on the hot fillets.

Spinach Salad: Chop left-over cooked spinach finely and measure. To one cup of it add one hard-boiled egg cut small, (the yolk mashed), one small raw onion, and one tablespoonful of bottled Mayonnaise dressing. Press this mixture into small cups, to mould, filling each little cup only one-half full. At mealtime slip the spinach-moulds out of the cups onto crisp lettuce, top with a dab of bottled dressing, and serve. (If you have on hand a little cooked red sweet pepper or pimiento, these will make a very pretty addition, mixed with the salad before moulding.)

Onion Souffle: Cook silver-skin onions in boiling salted water till tender, then drain, reserving water, and rub the onions through a wide-meshed sieve. You will need one and one-half cups of this onion-pulp. Now melt one-fourth cup of butter in a saucepan, add one-fourth cup of flour, one-third cup of the onion water, and one-third cup of hot top-milk (or cream). Blend thoroughly, then add the onion pulp. Season with salt and pepper to suit taste, add the beaten yolks of three eggs, remove from range, and fold in three stiffly-beaten

THREE QUESTIONS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my teens. I have headaches quite often. Is there any remedy for that? Would it be better for a girl to go through school and university, or to get a business education?

I have two brothers and they fuss at each other a great deal. How can I get them to realize it is wrong and to love each other? One is eighteen and the other is fifteen.

ALICE.

Since you suffer from headaches I would advise you to consult a physician so that you will egg-whites. Turn all into a buttered baking dish and bake twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Serve at once.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. be able to determine the cause. Perhaps you need glasses, or the trouble may be with your stomach. At any rate the wise way to handle the matter is through a physician. When it is possible for a girl to have a university education I would certainly advise her to make the best of her opportunity. After the college work is finished the business course can be taken, and the girl will be very well fitted to hold a good position. Show both a spirit of love and do not enter into quarrels with them. Where there is one sunny disposition in a family, the atmosphere is greatly helped and very often quarrels are avoided.

NEW PANEL EFFECTS

NEW YORK, May 12.—One strange phase of the panel is little more than the ends of a sash, except that there is not any sash. The panel bursts forth from a few gathers just above the girdle and falls over the girdle in a sash end effect, the effect being the more striking because the panel is of a material and pattern entirely different from the gown itself.

CHANGE COLLARS, CUFFS

NEW YORK, May 12.—Instead of a fur collar and fur cuffs, some of the top coats now have collars and cuffs of very fine plaiting or of cording. The collar invariably stands up stiff and high and often the cuff is as stiff and flat as a man's "boiled shirt."

NEW COMBINATION

LONDON, May 12.—Since the Duchess of Sutherland has taken up green and silver as a dress color combination, these colors are enjoying rather a vogue. They form a combination especially suited to blondes.

FOR DAINTY FROCKS

NEW YORK, May 12.—Dotted mull makes up some of the dainty little frocks for the very little girl to wear on warm afternoons. These frocks have wide linen collars or a bertha of mull, finely plaited.

ORIENTAL INFLUENCE

LONDON, May 12.—Oriental influence is at its best today in evening head dresses. Among these is a band of gold filigree worn low on the forehead with heavy fringes of gold and turquoise over the ears.

The word Andrew means "strong" or "manly."

MINSTREL CAST TO REHEARSE AT SCHOOL TONIGHT

Final Touches to Big Show
Being Put on; Event to

The big "darktown" minstrel show to be given at the Broadway high school Friday and Saturday nights, May 16 and 17, under the auspices of the local "lunch club," will be particularly well rehearsed, states R. D. Crawford, under whose direction the show will be put on.

A rehearsal is called for 7:45 o'clock tonight at the Harvard high school, when comedians and musicians will produce some close harmony, in anticipation of the event, proceeds of which will go toward support of the Community band.

The Exchange, Rotary, Kiwanis clubs and Realty Board are all providing talent and boosting this event, according to Mr. Crawford. With R. E. Johnston on one end, William Truitt on the other and Captain D. Ripley Jackson as interactor, a rapid-fire barrage of jokes will be started, he says, that will be answered with a back-fire from Peter Hanson, Joe Griffin, Fletcher, Park Arnold, Hayward and Hayward and other well known Glendaleans.

Feature soloists will be J. Arthur Myers, Mayor Spencer Robinson, Captain D. Ripley Jackson, Wm. Lewis and M. D. Jackson. The climax of these fine opening numbers will be the "California Poppy Girls" in one of Pearl Keller's original dances. Vaudeville numbers following the opening are being provided by the best professional talent available. Mr. Crawford states. The closing number, a comedy skit, is understood to be a "scream" from start to finish.

For Divers Reasons

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News.

The dainty grace and superb skill of America's diving maid should help Uncle Sam make a clean sweep of the aquatic events in the Olympic games this summer.

Four years ago, at Antwerp, the U. S. girls won the fancy diving events almost without competition, so great was their superiority. This year two members of the team are the girls who finished first and second in that sweeping victory. Miss Eileen Riggins and Miss Helen Wainwright are the two. And added to this pair is Miss Helen Meany, who has held the national plain diving championship for three summers—ever since the summer of the last Olympiad.

Along with these stars will be Miss Elizabeth Becker of Atlantic City, Miss Florence Briscoe and three or four other fair divers who have won nation-wide reputation with their achievements on the springboard.

Miss Meany, perhaps, carries the most responsibility on her shoulders. The European women, while not proficient in the fancy events, present formidable opposition in the plain diving contests. Miss Meany, because of her success against American competition in the straight events for three years, is counted on to carry the burden in this branch.

However, little Eileen, Miss Becker and their sister mermaids will lend a hand.

Miss Riggins is the girl who, as a mere mite of a maid of 13, startled the whole world with her work in the games at Antwerp. Her grace and confidence in the diving events and her speed and endurance in the swimming races astounded experts.

Miss Wills completed the first half of her trip from Berkeley, Cal., to Wimbledon, England, yesterday and will sail on the Berengaria on Wednesday. Whittier College In Victory Over Tigers

Whittier college noses Occidental out of a victory in their second baseball game of the season Saturday, 4 to 3. The Poets took the lead with two runs, one in the first inning and another in the third. Oxy came back for two in the fourth and kept the score 2-2 until the seventh, when Lindquist scored a run for Oxy. A fiery rally by the whole town of Whittier got started and proved successful for the home team netted two runs and clinched the ball game.

Jessup, pitching for Whittier, struck out fifteen batters, walked two, and allowed only three hits. Quaint Fulton heaved for the visitors and struck out seven, walked three, and allowed seven hits. Lindquist continued his slugging streak and managed to knock out two two-baggers for his share of the entertainment. Bullet Hazeline, Tiger catcher, cracked out a neat three-base hit.

The Grizzlies trimmed the Caltech nine 3 to 1 in a thrilling contest at Tournament park. Pomona had little trouble in swamping the weak Redlands Bulldogs 13 to 6 on the Claremont field.

Next Saturday Occidental goes to Redlands, Whittier to S. B. U. C., and Pomona to Caltech. S. B. U. is still leading the league with six straight victories.

Motorcycle Accident Causes Youth's Death

William C. Belcher, age 17, of 223 North Kenwood street, died yesterday, Sunday, May 11, 1924, at a Los Angeles hospital, from injuries he received Friday when the motorcycle he was riding collapsed at Cypress and Pepper streets.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Reports were in circulation today of a new lawn tennis organization that may be formed to combat the United States Lawn Tennis association on the player-writer issue.

TRACE INDUSTRY TO PRESENT TIME

In the absence of their teacher, the Rev. Edward Hoskyn, the Men's Bible Study class of the First Methodist Episcopal church was addressed yesterday by A. M. Dewey, who talked on the subject of "Industrial Christianity." Industrial methods were traced from ancient times to the present and the progress of mechanical and scientific knowledge was vividly portrayed by the speaker.

"How fares the worker, the producer of wealth, in the midst of all this industrial progress? Conditions of the toilers are getting better, but still far from being right. For it is no part of the divine plan of creation that the man who works the hardest should always have the least."

The horrors of war were depicted and declared unnecessary, and the speaker made an appeal for more justice in dealing between man and man—not keeping just within the law of the land, but within the law of Christ.

A poem by Jack Crawford, the poet, was quoted, entitled "The Sons of Toil and Danger," which proved a fitting close to the address.

Oxy Freshmen Add to Record of Games Won

The Occidental Freshmen baseball team paraded in full uniform over their home diamond last Saturday evening with another shut out to their credit, after they held Pomona's frosh to one hit and no runs and collected six runs for themselves. This was the twenty-first straight victory for the Occidental beginners and the third shut-out game pitched by Harris Hinch. Bud Teachout, star Tiger hurler, sprained his elbow in the fourth inning and Hinch took the mound and let the Pomona players hit the ball just once.

OAKMONT CLUB'S SOCIAL EVENTS DELIGHT GUESTS

Scotch Entertainers, Fashion
Revue, Dance Numbers
Please Everybody

Springtime is a time of beauty at the Oakmont Country club and the attractive new clubhouse and delightful surroundings are proving inspirations for many successful and enjoyable affairs for club members and guests.

Entertainment for the diners Saturday night at the club dinner dance was a brilliant fashion revue, staged by C. J. Hatz ready-to-wear and the Suzanne millinery stores of Glendale. Seven pretty models displayed fashion's latest dictates in dresses for every occasion, hats and spring coats, with many charming accessories.

Each creation was heartily applauded by the 260 club members and guests present.

During the revue Marie Louise Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice H. Brown of 366 West Oak street, talented pupil of the Pearl Keller Studio of Dancing and Dramatic Art, gave her clever "Powder Puff Dance."

Lauders Please

The Sunday night music hour at the club attracted 250 members and guests, all of whom joined in the praise of the entertainment given by Matt Lauder and Harry Lauder, Jr., the former the brother of the internationally known Scotch comedian. Appearing with them were Virgil Drenburg, violinist, and Miss Ethel Congdon, accompanist.

Matt Lauder is a clever Scotch entertainer like his brother, while his son, Harry Lauder, Jr., has won justly deserved laurels as a dramatic tenor.

Employees To Dance

On Tuesday night the clubhouse will be the scene of a dinner party enjoyed by the employees of the J. A. Newton Electric company. Reservations have been made for forty.

The regular weekly Bridge and Mah Jongg tea for the women will be given Wednesday afternoon with Mesdames G. E. Leate, M. Walters, R. E. Chase, S. G. Laird and Miss Barbara Mitchell as hostesses.

A dance for club members' children and guests will be given Friday night, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ayars and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Temple as chaperones.

The floor committee for the informal dance Saturday night includes H. S. Webb, W. A. Tanner and Alfred Priest.

Reserved seats for the Glendale Chautauqua which opens Wednesday night will go on sale tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Glendale Book Store, 113 South Brand boulevard.

Any purchaser of a season ticket may reserve a seat for all thirteen performances at an extra charge of one dollar. Reserved seats for single performances will be sold at the tent located at the corner of Harvard and Orange streets.

As it will not be necessary for persons holding reserved seats to pay for the place, a large sale is anticipated by the committee, of which Paul Periera is chairman. The Guatemala Marimba band, a group of native musicians, opens the Chautauqua.

The Citizens' Traffic Commission met this morning in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, 150 South Brand boulevard, to further discuss the forthcoming recommendations to the City Council.

While no definite date has yet been set for the presentation of the bill, it will be presented, it was the belief of members of the commission that it will be some time this week. The commission will meet again Wednesday, May 14.

RAILROADS PLAN FOR HEAVY CROPS

Begin Getting Equipment in Shape to Care for Big Yields This Year

By J. C. ROYLE, Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright 1934. NEW YORK, May 12.—Although crops are late this season in nearly all of the agricultural districts, the railroads have already begun to marshal their equipment to handle the movement of agricultural products. There is every indication that the crop movement will be carried out more easily, expeditiously and satisfactorily than ever before, despite the heavy yield expected in many of the growing districts. The middle west states expect one of the most bounteous crops ever produced in the section. Freight cars now are being set out on sidings at strategic points. This movement began three weeks ago with the assembling of 15,000 cars. The number has now increased to between 18,000 and 20,000 and 15,000 additional will be moved into Missouri, Kansas, Southern Nebraska, Oklahoma and Arkansas within the next sixty days. Barring unforeseen delays, railroad executives expect no difficulty in getting together the 90,000 cars which will be required in those states. California will require about 55,000 cars.

NEW YORK CLOSING

H. J. DUZEND For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 12.—Bearishness that developed in last week's final session as a result of the announcement of crude oil cuts in certain areas and the big drop in forward business carried on the books of the United States Steel corporation was further accentuated in the stock market today.

Little opportunity was afforded in the present session to measure fully in the price movements the importance of the tonnage statement due to the lateness of its publication, and it was therefore left to today's market to reflect Wall Street sentiment on the score. Although the financial community was fully prepared for a substantial decrease in the corporation's unfilled orders, the decline was larger than expected.

The rank and file of speculators were inclined to look upon this document as representative of conditions in other lines of endeavor, and consequently offered stocks freely throughout the list.

They took no cognizance of the fact that consumption in the steel industry is going ahead at an active pace, and that the problem of overproduction is being quickly corrected through recent steps of drastic mill curtailment. Steel common went through its previous low of the year, selling down to 95¢, and other so-called leaders suffered proportionately. Baldwin was particularly depressed, due to the small volume of business now handled by this company.

Wall street, in its present bearish mood, professed also to be disturbed by the overwhelming defeat administered by the French voters to Premier Poincare's party, which they claimed would interfere with the progress being made in the working out of the Dawes plan.

Practically the entire industrial list was under selling from start to finish. Independent oils and petroleum stocks bore the brunt of the selling, as to the latter, opinions of trade leaders were by no means pessimistic in spite of the crude price reduction. According to them, the production situation is as strong as ever, while large withdrawals from gasoline stocks can be expected from now on.

Stewart Warner was exceptionally weak, dropping about 5 points on unfavorable dividend rumors. Corn products, old, and sugar, old, were stricken from the list, leaving the split-up shares the only units to be traded in. Sugars were weak, due to the further price cutting in the refined commodity.

Rail shares, however, stood out in bold relief, especially in the dividend-paying group, which, under the leadership of Atchison, experienced intervals of pronounced strength. Money conditions were easy, call money renewing and ruling at 3½ per cent. Foreign exchanges were unsettled. Cotton turned strong after early heaviness.

Barring isolated rallies, the market continued heavy throughout the last hour. Stewart Warner extended its loss, declining to 5¼, or about 45 points below this year's high. Independent steels were hard pressed. Crucible going below 50. The final tone was heavy. Bonds were irregular. Stock sales, 754,500 shares; bonds, $10,137,000.

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Sales were light and stocks were depressed slightly on the Los Angeles stock exchange this morning, with bank securities holding firm and steady.

Security Trust & Savings opened at $311, Saturday's closing price, while Bank of America stock was traded today at $133. In the utilities list, Edison 7 per cent was steady at $104 and Edison common at $101. Los Angeles Gas & Electric stock opened at $90.

Los Angeles Investment showed its downward trend this morning, when it opened at $3.55, losing only one point during the first few hours of trading. Sales were light. In the oil list, Julian Petroleum common opened at $15.50, and Julian preferred was traded at $27. United Oil was $25, holding steady during the morning's trading. Union Associates opened at $51.75.

Oatman mining stock was sold heavily at .05, 22,000 shares being traded at this price. North Star held firm at .01 and Virginia Lumber at .02½, increasing to .03. Richmond Mining opened at .18, but lost a point early in the day.

BUILDING PERMITS

Four building permits, aggregating $3,475, were issued this morning by H. C. Vandewater, municipal building superintendent, bringing the total for the month to $192,432. Permits issued during 1934 now amount to $3,629,585.

The following permits were issued: Stratton, 4 rooms and garage, 1014 East Arch—$3,000. J. A. R. Monroe, screen porch, 629 West California—200. Mrs. Wentz, garage, 138 North Everett—175. Mrs. Linnick, addition 357 West Arcadia—100.

CHICAGO WHEAT By International News Service

CHICAGO, May 12.—Weakness predominated in the grain market today. At the close wheat was ¼c up to ¾c down; corn, ¾c to 1½c lower, and oats, ¼c to ¾c off. Wheat was influenced by Liverpool cables telling of larger shipments to England and cheaper offerings of Argentine, and consequent lower prices. Scattered selling and weakness in corn here induced a further drop, with only slight support until shorts began to buy at the reduced prices. Scattered selling featured the light trading in oats.

FEARS SHORTAGE OF FILM ACTORS

Recent Slump Sends Stars to Eastern Studios, Says Head of Studio

By MARIAN MARSHALL For Southland News Service. HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—A shortage of movie players is predicted for the summer months, when Hollywood production will reach its peak. M. C. Levee, president of the United Studios, stated today that unless many of the screen celebrities now working in New York are brought back to Hollywood, producers will experience a shortage of acting talent.

"Already I am having difficulty in casting my next production, upon which work will be started next month," said Mr. Levee. "Although we've been looking for players to fill the three leading roles of the story for several weeks we have not yet been able to fill one of these parts."

"Following the slump here this winter, many popular screen players left Hollywood for New York, where they have been busy engaged during the past few months. With production rapidly coming back to its summer peak it has already become difficult to cast a picture. This is merely an indication of what the situation will be two months from now, when studios will be working night and day to finish the product for next fall and winter."

"I look for one of the most active producing seasons in the history of the business this summer. At our studios alone we will have eleven companies in operation within the next month. Other studios are planning similar activities. Unless eastern-stage and screen players are drafted for western productions, producers will find themselves handicapped in their operations."

WOMEN IN PANIC IN BARGAIN SALE

Glass Door of Store Crashes Under Massed Weight Of Eager Buyers

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Nearly two-score women narrowly escaped serious injury today when a huge plate glass door, unable to bear the weight of the women fighting for admittance to a sale at a Broadway store, gave way and showered several pounds of thick glass upon the struggling mob.

A "fire sale" was in progress inside the store, and according to police estimates, several hundred women jammed the main entrance to the store for purchases. Without a second's notice the huge glass door gave way and fell upon the crowd. A panic ensued, during which it was reported several women fainted. A traffic officer sent in a riot call and several automobile loads of policemen arrived in time to prevent members of the struggling crowd, who were dangerously close to the jagged edges of what remained of the glass, from being hurt, however.

FIRE WIPES OUT EL CENTRO FIRM

Varney Bros.' Store Goes Up In Flames That Menace Business Block

By HARRY NORTHRUP For Southland News Service. EL CENTRO, May 12.—Fire starting at 8 o'clock this morning gutted the spacious Varney Bros. & Company department store on Main street, the largest mercantile institution in the valley. Both the men and women's stores and the house-furnishings stocks were destroyed by the flames which threatened for a time to wipe out the whole business block, as the light construction burned like tinder.

It is believed the fire originated in a gasoline presser in the tailoring department as it was being lighted by an employee. The loss is estimated at upwards $50,000. Varney's have large interests in the San Fernando valley.

ASK REMOVAL OF BOUNDARY LINES

Children Attend School In La Crescenta But Tax
Goes to Tujunga

MONTROSE, May 12.—Petitions are to be circulated asking for the removal of the boundary line between La Crescenta and Tujunga school districts from the present dividing line to Lowell avenue, some distance west. A committee appointed by the Montrose Chamber of Commerce will circulate the petitions.

This action followed speeches made at the last meeting of the chamber in which the speakers pointed out that the children in the territory in question are attending La Crescenta school, but the tax levied on the property goes to Tujunga school district. Principal Blanford of La Crescenta was requested to write to County Superintendent Keppel regarding the situation.

A feature of the last meeting of the chamber was the presentation of a new gavel to President Brown. Secretary W. C. Kaune made the presentation and eulogized Mr. Brown for his services to the community in his capacity as president of the Chamber of Commerce. Not to be outdone in the courtesies Mr. Brown gave credit to the members as co-operators and supporters of everything that had been undertaken and declared the work of the organization had been the means of forming many friendships which he valued very highly.

NOVEL ROLL CALL AT WOMEN'S MEET

Members Will Give History
Of Wild Flowers When Names Are Called

SUNLAND, May 12.—A novel manner of answering the roll call has been planned by members of the Monte Vista Woman's club for their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the school auditorium. As the names are called the owners will respond by presenting some variety of wild flower and explaining its history, where it grows and how.

There will also be several papers read on the Missions of San Fernando, San Jose, Santa Barbara, San Luis Rey, Santa Inez, La Purisima, San Rafael, San Carlos, Antonio and San Buena Ventura. A musical program will be given alternating with the readings and refreshments will be served at the close of the session.

The Monte Vista Parent-Teacher association held its regular election meeting and chose the following officers: Mrs. Nanine S. Kevane was re-elected president; first vice-president, Mrs. Miller; second vice-president, Mrs. Chittwood; recording secretary, Mrs. Janesky; treasurer, Mrs. Knudson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Eakin; historian, Mrs. Satterly; auditor, Principal Creighton of the Sunland school. TUJUNGA, May 12.—A musical program featured one of the most enjoyable social affairs of the Woman's club year at the tea given at the home of Mrs. G. A. Kinder on Maiden Lane. Vocal and instrumental selections by accomplished musicians and classic dancing by Ernestine Hirsch and Dorothy Lane, pupils of Miss Frances Morgan, were included in the program.

Other numbers included: Solo, "Fiddle and I" by Mrs. George E. Buttery, accompanied by Mrs. P. B. Well Assures Water For New Subdivision

TUJUNGA, May 12.—Highway Highlands, a tract just recently subdivided east of Tujunga, is assured of abundant water supply by the bringing in of a well there at a depth of 300 feet with water standing at a depth of 128 feet. The drill passed through a thick clay formation before reaching the water bearing sand. The driller stated that he was confident that the well would supply all the water necessary for the tract.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Stockton of Winnipeg, Canada, who have been spending the winter in California, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Shinner and daughter Doris, Mr. Renshaw and Mr. and Mrs. Englund and son Frank of Los Angeles were the guests who enjoyed the hospitality of the Campbells. Mr. Stockton and Mr. Campbell were classmates in Winnipeg and renewed old acquaintance after a ten-year lapse.

EARLY START ON DAM IS PLANNED

Passage of Flood Control
Bonds Insures Work
on Huge Project

VAN NUYS, May 12.—The triumph of the flood control bonds in the recent election means the early construction of Pacoima dam, a project that will benefit the entire valley. When it is considered that transactions in the district annually involve upwards of $1,000,000,000, according to Rex B. Goodell, collector of internal revenue for Southern California, it is seen that the flood control bonds were slow in coming. The prosperity of this district in the years immediately ahead is something to conjure with, and John H. Blair, who recently addressed the Ventura Boulevard Chamber of Commerce, likening the San Fernando valley to the valley of the Nile, with a hydro-electric river coming from the far-off mountains on singing wires, was not a visionary.

Mr. Blair in his address expressed the belief that the San Fernando valley would be the future Riviera of America, and with the expansion and growth that are now evidenced, Ventura boulevard and all of the other valley communities would develop beyond all past expectations if programs are merged with a spirit of co-operation.

In conclusion, he stated that the passage of the flood control bonds had assured the growth of Sherman Way, Ventura boulevard and other integral highway arteries.

Drive for Y. M. C. A. Funds Is Launched

BURBANK, May 12.—The annual drive for funds to operate the local Y. M. C. A. opened this morning and will continue tomorrow and Wednesday. The sum to be raised is $1200. The two teams working are the "Go-Getters," with Dr. T. E. McGuire at the head, and the "Live Yers," with W. J. Riley at the head. A. C. Keinath and Roy M. Attwater are captains for the "Go-Getters," with Mrs. J. D. Redcliff captain of a women's team, and J. L. Norwood and J. F. Ewing and Mrs. Siviter as the captains for the "Live Yers." Each captain has a number of privates, whose duty it will be to "beard" the Y. M. C. A. dollars in the dens of the "prospects."

The drive began with a luncheon this noon at the Presbyterian church. There will be similar "eat-talks" at noon tomorrow and Wednesday.

Gas Company to Open Eagle Rock Branch

EAGLE ROCK, May 12.—Last week's rumor regarding the location of a new community of Los Angeles Gas & Electric corporation branch proved correct. Such an office will be located here during the month of May, it was officially announced through Mr. McCrea of that corporation this week, according to Earl M. Daniels, representative of the Chamber of Commerce Public Service committee.

This word strikes joy to the hearts of Eagle Rock residents, and particularly to those who for two years have been striving toward this end. It has long been pointed out that in a district where the population is estimated as in excess of 10,000, it would be justifiable to establish such a branch.

The location of the office has not been officially announced, but it is generally understood that the location will be in one of the new bank buildings. This will prove a central location and make it most convenient for residents who have been in the habit of personally appearing at the gas office to pay their bills.

Johnson Is Elected Tujunga Board Head

TUJUNGA, May 12.—J. B. Johnson, who was re-elected to the Tujunga board of trustees at a recent election, has been elected president of the board to succeed Wallace W. Morgan. Mrs. Marian W. Reynolds, who has served two years as clerk, was re-elected to that position.

The Japanese-American of San Francisco, is the largest and most influential Japanese newspaper in this country.

'BEST COMPANION' IS SERMON TOPIC

Special music numbers were: Anthem, "Praise Ye the Lord," sung by the choir, and "The King of Love" by the choir, with solo part by Mrs. John W. Cotton and duet part by Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Jones.

"Our Best Companion" was the subject of the Mothers'-Day address by the pastor, delivered at the evening service. Music was furnished by the boys' vested choir. Bold Girl Bandit Quails as Victim's Wife Starts Riot TUJUNGA, May 12.—Pearl Redmond, the flapper bandit, who was found guilty of holding up C. R. Morgan, 355 South Marshall street, Tujunga, on Washington's birthday, quailed before the wrath of Mrs. Morgan, when the latter got into action in Judge Edwin F. Hahn's courtroom.

The "flapper bandit" on the stand declared that Morgan had consented to be robbed, and that he had concocted the hold-up story to explain his missing diamond pin and bankroll to his wife, after Pearl had vamped him to a fare-thee-well.

At this point enters Mrs. Morgan, with upraised arm and reproaches on her lips, and the bold, bad bandit queen, with a squeal like a scared rabbit, dived under a table in the courtroom and stayed there until a court bailiff had persuaded Mrs. Morgan to calm down.

Morgan specifically denies the "vamping" and the rest of the girl's story, and even yet he gently caresses the spot where the female bandit's companion bounced his gun butt off the back of his head during the robbery.

WILL ASK OUTLAY OF FLOOD FUNDS

Committee Will Insist on Expenditure of $18,000
From Bond Issue

TUJUNGA, May 12.—Appointing a committee to take up with the county authorities, the immediate expenditure of the $18,000 remaining from the last flood control bond issue will be the principal item of business at the regular meeting of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, May 13. The meeting will be held in the school auditorium instead of Legion hall, as heretofore. This action will be taken following the failure of Engineer Reagan to keep an appointment to speak before a mass meeting in Tujunga Tuesday, April 29, at which it was expected that he would clear up the misunderstanding on that question.

J. T. Fitzgerald of Los Angeles and Tujunga, owner of the Fitzgerald Music company of Los Angeles, will be the principal speaker and will address the meeting on "Prosperity" and the relation of Tujunga and Los Angeles. Mr. Fitzgerald owns a fine large estate in the northern part of Tujunga and makes his home there much of the time. His speech will deal with the problem of bringing eastern factories and industrial enterprises to this section of California, and the part which individual communities can play in solving it.

To Demand Action
The committee to be appointed will be instructed to see that all money available for the protection of Tujunga from flood waters from the Haines canyon be applied to that purpose without further delay.

The much debated question of what became of the $35,000 allotted to Tujunga from the flood control bond issue of 1917 was answered by F. C. McMillan of the county engineer's office at the mass meeting held a few days ago in the school auditorium. According to information given by Mr. McMillan, $12,000 was spent in Pickens canyon at the request of the Foothill Valley Federation, an organization functioning at that time which included Tujunga, La Crescenta and La Canada in the membership. Two thousand dollars was spent in building approaches to the bridge across Tujunga wash west of Sunland, and the remaining $18,174.79 still lies in the county treasury awaiting some action to get it into construction work.

Brings Affidavits
Mr. McMillan stated that he was sure that any money voted in the present bond issue would not be diverted except at the request of the people of the district affected. He reviewed the history of the floods that have visited the county and the efforts that have been made to minimize their damage.

In supporting the explanation that the former fund had been diverted at the request of the people, Mr. McMillan produced copies of a letter from F. M. Ashby to former Supervisor Dodge and an affidavit signed by Mr. Ashby, W. H. Wieman, Dr. Clarence Buck and George Slusher, which stated, in effect, that they agreed to a diversion of $12,000 to work in canyons east of Haines canyon, with the understanding that the proposed spreading grounds plan of control be abandoned at that time and the remainder of the $35,000 be spent in completing the system of check dams in Haines canyon. The letter and the affidavit were on the stationery of the Valley Federation in force at that time, five years ago.

In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1923, 759,742 prescriptions for liquor had been filled in California.
